

- There are 140,000 small woodland owners in Oregon. Approximately 70,000 own between 1 and 10 acres and 70,000 own 10 to 5000 acres of forestland
- Small woodland owners own 4,668,000 acres of forestland in Oregon which represents 15% of the total forestland and 44% of the private forestland in Oregon
- In 2011, 8% of Oregon's timber harvest came from small woodland owners
- OSWA has 1469 memberships with each membership representing up to three individuals
- OSWA has 17 local chapters representing 23 counties across the state
- OSWA members own over 220,000 acres of forestland
- About 9% of OSWA's members own 15 acres or less
- The association was formed in 1960 in Lane County as Small Woodlands Association.
- The association became Oregon Small Woodlands Association in 1966

