Re Implementation platforms

Please allow me to introduce myself. My name is Ed Burgmans. I am the c.e.o. of Alternative Medical Consulting. We are a medical research and cannabis industry based consulting firm. We provide the cannabis industry consultation services in the education, testing, inspection, construction, and processing fields. I have been a licensed bonded electrical and general contractor for over thirty years. My experiences have brought my firm too many grow site. Inspection and site construction are just some of the activities we are currently undertaking. We have also just launched our seminar program earlier this January. Our efforts there are to educate and certify all growers while building a safer market place.

Our problem of course is “how do we implement this new industry.” A common sense approach tells us “there are still lots of work for us to do”. Even just on the medical side alone. Like those things that just were not quite done... but still needs to be implemented. Mandatory testing is the first thing that comes to my mind. We are also confronted with taxation, controlling organized crime, gangs and a notorious black market just to mention a few. From living abroad in Holland and other foreign places. It gives one an unusual perspective into our own industry. It has also shown me “what will not work”. Seeing what worked for the Netherlands for 35 years and what failures they had only adds to my perspective. Last we need to insure the safety of all concerned. This can only be achieved with unity in the industry and ...this is key. “if the public wants to participate.” I know and believe my firm can help to achieve this goal.

How can we help?

We can do this thru education. Secondly thru our structured business plan which unites the growers with the market place. This will provide stability and much needed checks and balances. Our business plan provides vehicles for inventory control, taxation, and reduction of crime just to mention a few. All this is necessary and imperative to the health of any business and therefore a must for the goodwill of all that are involved. Our business plan provides solutions to all the for mentioned issues that we face today. I have spoke to hundreds of people from the growers to the general public. What I find comforting is that the general public is very much in favor of structure in our industry. What that means is sensible choices made in strategic areas of this industry today will constitute the controls necessary to manage the industry. Since we are a consulting firm it is hard to disclose proprietary information in a public forum, but I hope that my presentation has peaked your interest. At this time I would like to respectfully offer my firms services to this distinguished committee. Please don't hesitate to call on me or my staff. I thank you for your time and hope to hear from each member on the committee soon

Sincerely
