

Although I cannot attend I am a vaper that is concerned about this ban. I'm not a child I don't push vape products on children and a ban of online sales would be detrimental to my vaping and keeping off cigarettes. There are some products and vaping devices that are not available locally the only option is online purchases. Quiet frankly this proposed ban is nothing but a political witch hunt. Please leave online sales available to vapers. Not to mention local shops purchase products online to sell in their shop. If this ban goes through you will be taking revenue out of the local economy. If the state is concerned about not attaining revenue from vapers come up with something else. Vapers will not stop vaping because they don't want to go back to smoking cigarettes and these bans will just create a black market which will be even further unregulated and put vapers at risk to questionable products. If the state wants to help treat myself and other nicotine dependent individuals then perhaps create a nicotine clinic much like one provided to heroine and meth addicts that are administered methadone.

Thanks for your time,

Jacob Vercouteren

p.s. don't ban online sales this is a bad idea