

I urge you to support HB 3470, the Climate Stability and Justice Act, to require the Environmental Quality Commission to adopt statewide rules to progressively limit emissions of all six greenhouse gases over the next 35 years.

Oregon is experiencing reduced snowpack, which will impact summer water for agriculture and every other use. While reducing greenhouse gases in Oregon may have only a small effect on global climate change, every state needs to do its part to combat this global threat.

Please pass this bill out of committee and ensure a vote on it by the full House (and Senate) this session.

Sincerely,
Sally Hollemon
