

We want real climate policy.

I want real climate policy now because the scientific evidence is overwhelming and there's still much we can do to ward off trouble.

-Aaron

I moved to Copenhagen, Denmark for 6 months to learn about real and effective ways to implement sustainable, long-lasting solutions that will save our planet! I want real climate policy NOW because I came home to Oregon 2 weeks ago in order to apply what I learned! Cap and dividend is a strong policy that will achieve energy security, reward renewable energy investment, and hold polluters accountable!

-Cassidy Jones

I want real climate policy now because that's how legislators can ensure an equitable and sustainable economy for generations to come!
-Emma Ronai-Durning

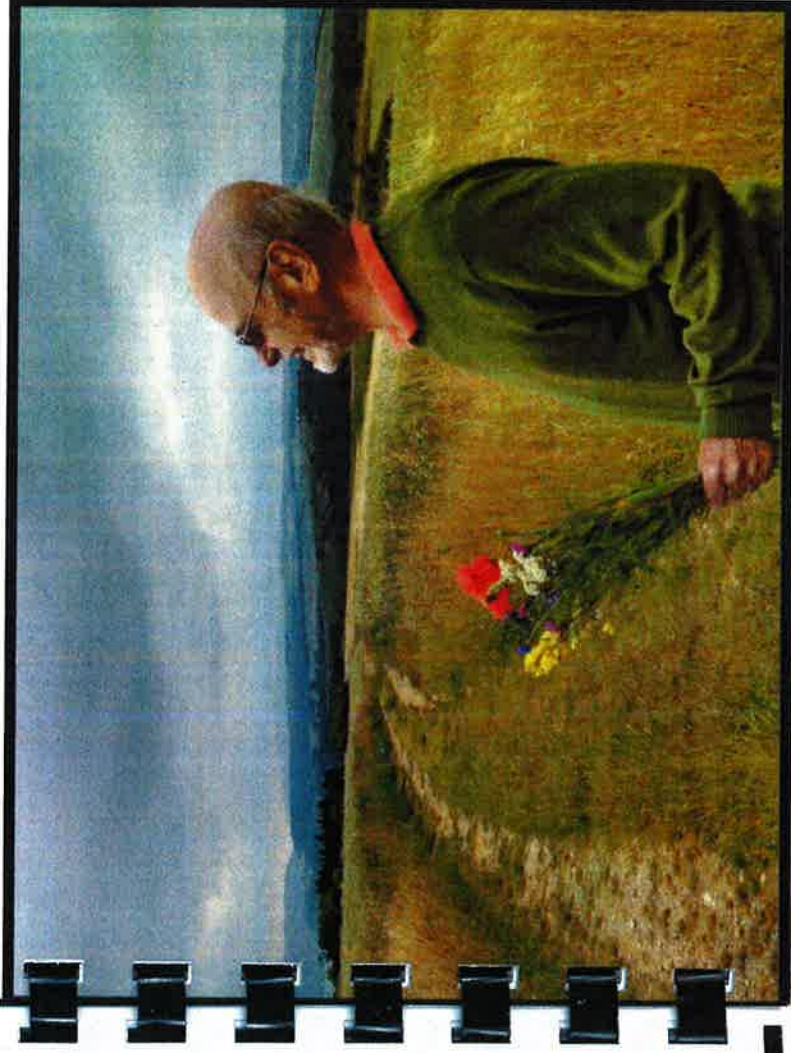

I want real climate policy now because our rivers are already changing, and need to be protected for future generations.
-Jake Matitsky

I want real climate policy now because I want to roam the summer countryside with my family and still stumble upon beautiful wildflowers and verdant fields.

-John Richter

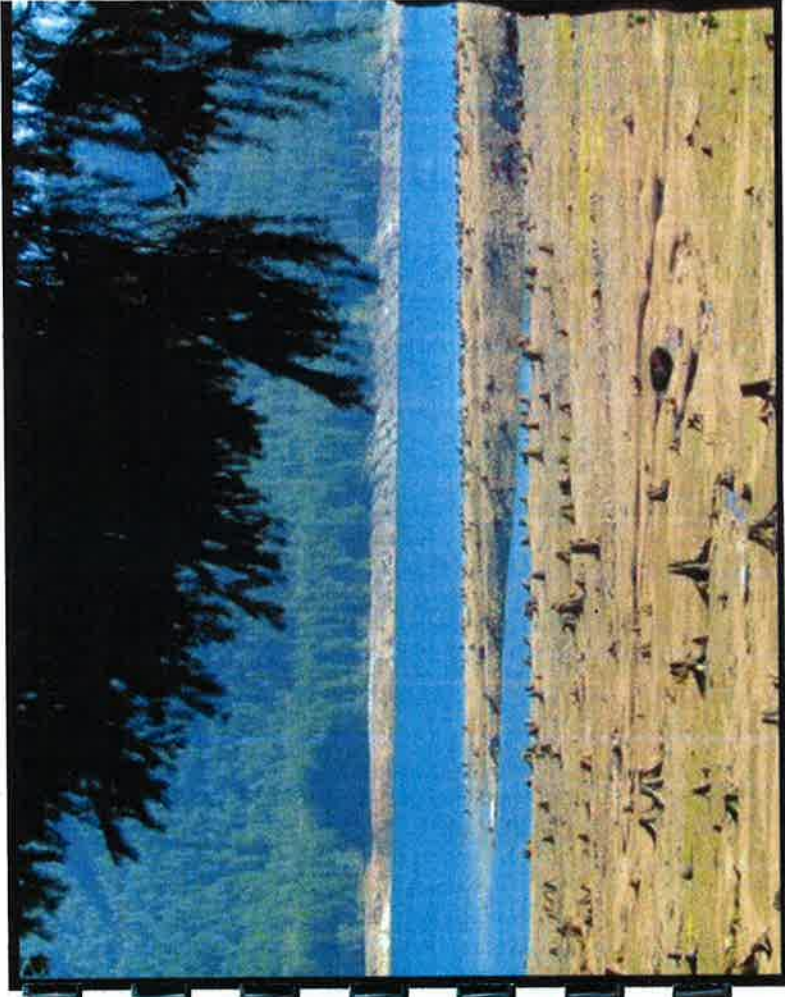

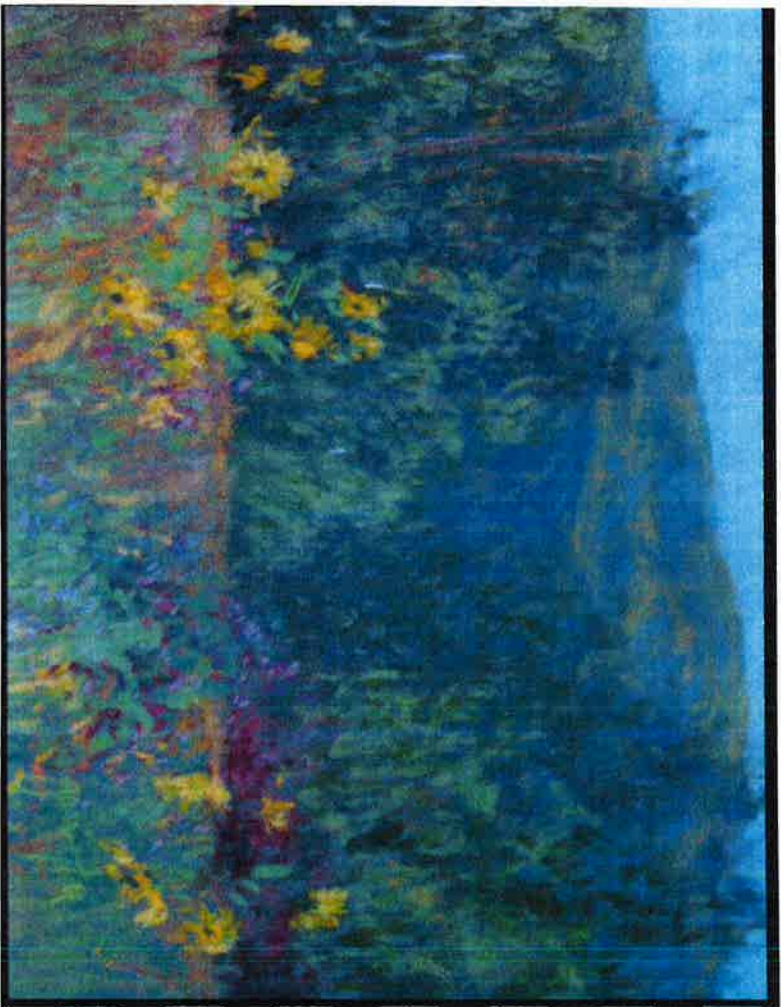

I want real climate policy now because I care about my grandchildren's future, and won't allow greedy corporations to scorch the Earth.

-Kayla Starr

I want real climate policy now because this past weekend I traveled to Central Oregon from Portland. I was shocked and amazed (not in a good way) at the low levels of Detroit Lake, which I suppose should be called Detroit Puddle these days. Formerly covered tree stumps in plain sight, boat docks sitting on top of a dry rocky shore--its one thing to hear about the impacts of climate change-induced drought, its another to see them first hand!

-Kyle Curtis

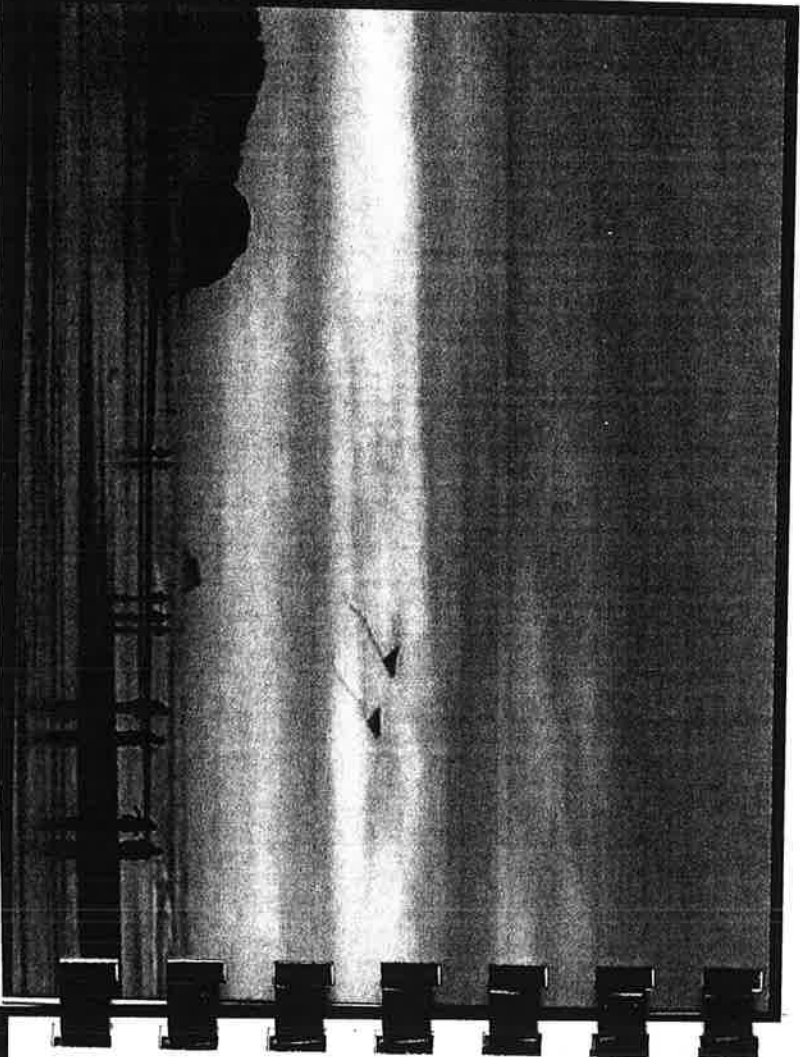

I want real climate policy now because climate change negatively affects the Oregon landscapes and gardens that artists love to paint. Keep Oregon green so artists of the future still have the beauty of our wonderful state!

-Margaret Garrington

I want real climate policy now because I can't say to my children or grandchildren, that we did nothing because it was someone else's responsibility, or not a high enough a priority, or we didn't know enough yet. I'm an artist and my work is dedicated to this awakening to Nature's imperative.

-Michael Cook

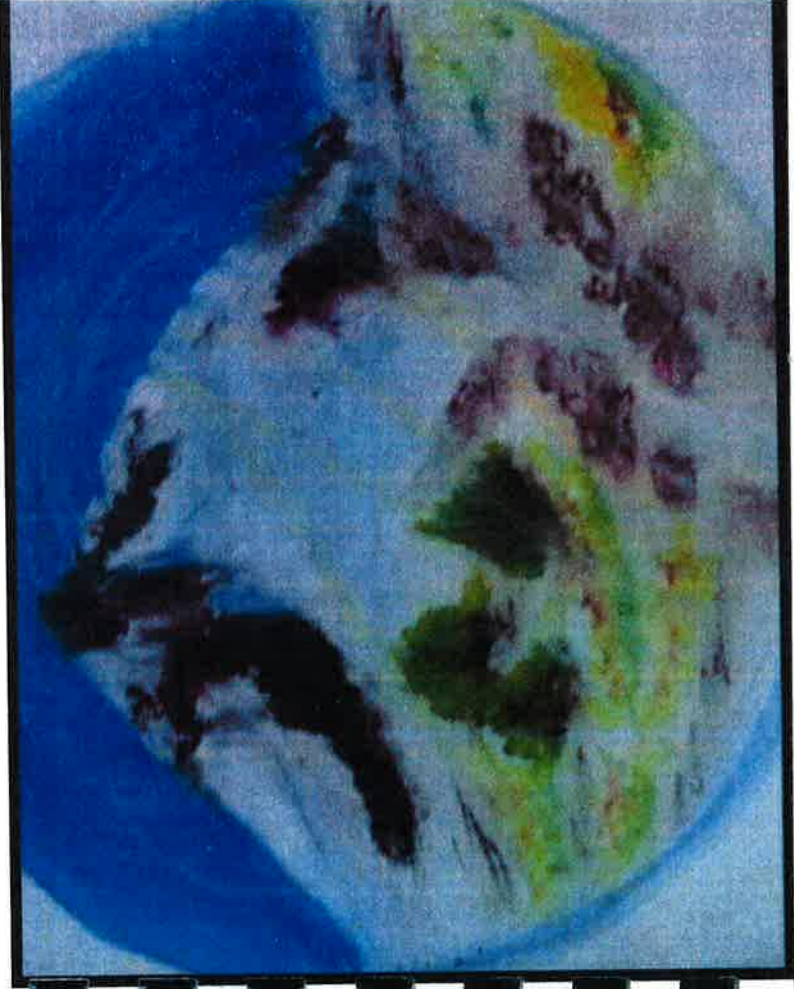

Life across the planet is already being forced to adapt to new, often extreme, conditions. We need to mitigate climate change NOW to avoid the irreversible, devastating impacts that scientists are telling us we can expect. Our communities and ecosystems depend on it.

-Page Atcheson

I go to the mountains to renew my spirits -- backpacking, climbing and skiing. I want to share that with my children! The glaciers which feed our amazing green valleys are disappearing at an alarming rate. We need to internalize the costs of CO2 pollution NOW in order to offer not only a viable life, but a beautiful, life-sustaining life for my children and all future generations.

-Pam Wood

I want real climate policy NOW because climate change threatens to economically destroy the towns and cities that rely on wintersport tourism. I've been snowboarding in the Cascades and Sierra Mountains for 15 years. Over that time I've witnessed going from Thanksgiving and early December opening weekends to my home mountain in Oregon only being open a handful of days this past winter, with several other resorts facing similarly brutal realities. Our mountain communities depend on snow to make their living, but climate change is quickly taking an eraser to our previous notion of snowfall and winter. Not to mention what reduced snowpacks mean for river flows that keep our towns watered and fish running! We need real climate policy, and we need it NOW, I want my children to be able to shred the pow too!

-Shelley Villalobos

I want real climate policy now because I want the good poor folk I know around the world to have a higher chance of making it year to year. I want the U.S. to have a way to stop contributing so much GHGs to the atmosphere, and I want Oregon to lead.

-Ty Gorman

This little girl, my granddaughter, deserves to grow up on a planet as clean and healthy as the one she lives on now.

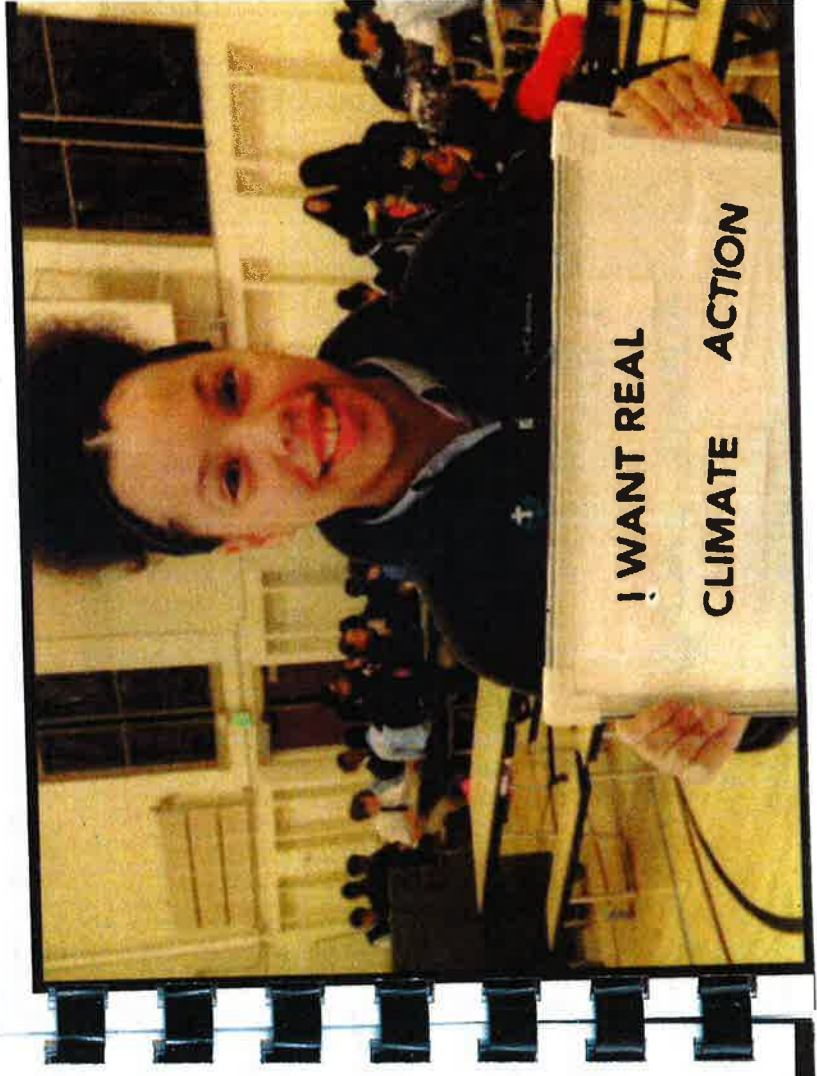

It's time -- I hope not past time -- for the Oregon Legislature to price carbon and discourage the burning of fossil fuels.

-Robin Cody

I want real climate action now because I love animals.

-Jonae Phillips

I want real climate action because we all deserve the right to thrive.

-Tyler White

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because we love the Rogue Valley.
-Rogue Valley Friends

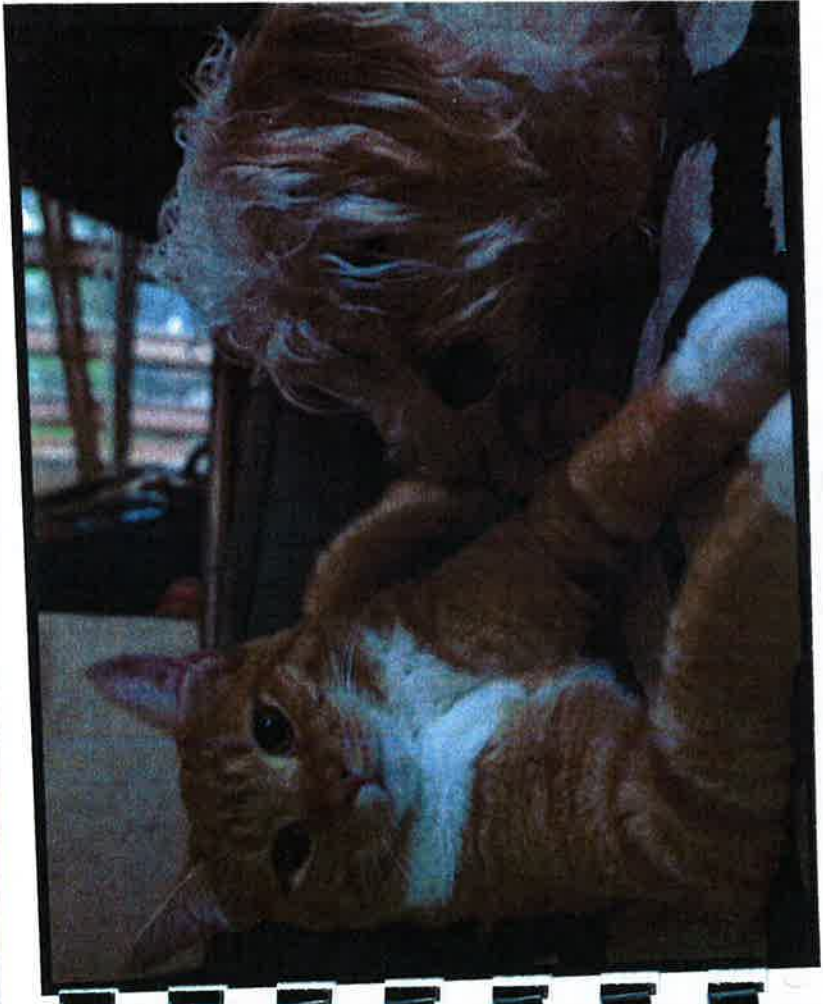

I want real climate action because climate change disproportionately impacts communities of color. It's a race issue. Environmental Justice = Social Justice.
-Ashley Akerberg

I want both the natural world and the human world to be a welcoming place for its new and old inhabitants. I want an economy that builds positive future prospects for Oregonians and the planet. Please move forward with legislation that really matters in this momentous time. I ask you as our representatives to take action. Thank you.

-Rachel Hibbard

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because of our future.

-Ariana Shockey and Sam Bango

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because I love Camila and don't want to be a part of the problem.
-Zoe Sirinsky

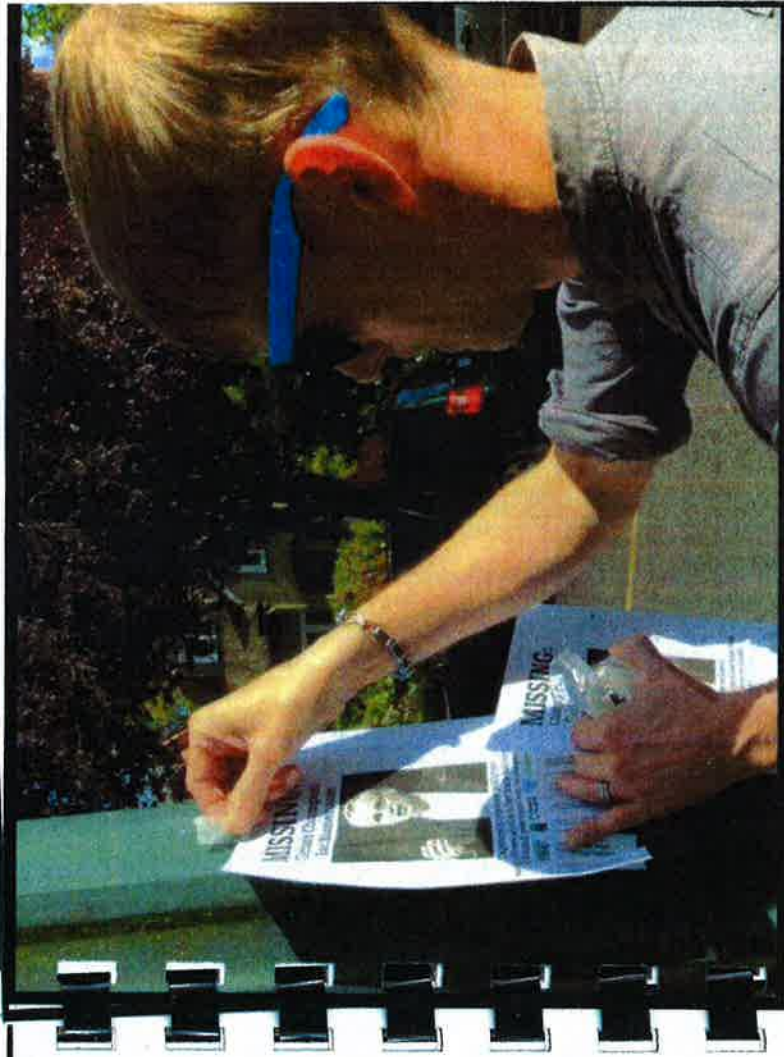

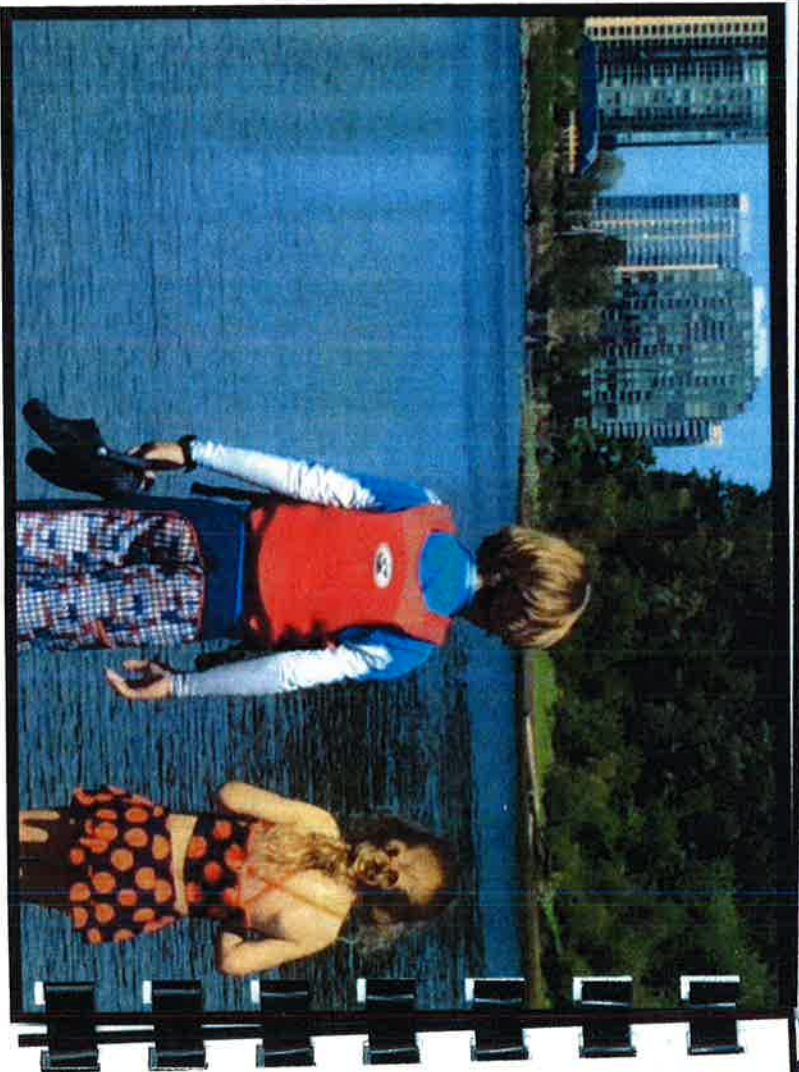

I want real climate policy now because climate change is the single most significant environmental and ethical issue facing my generation. I want to keep Oregon a place where natural beauty allows people to realize that we are only one small part of dynamic ecosystems. I want people 100 years from now to look back on climate change not as a divisive disaster, but as the issue that pushed human beings to new levels of cohesion, empathy, and adaptation.

-Emily Boring

I want real climate policy now because everything depends on us taking bold action to have a future.

-Benjamin Gerritz

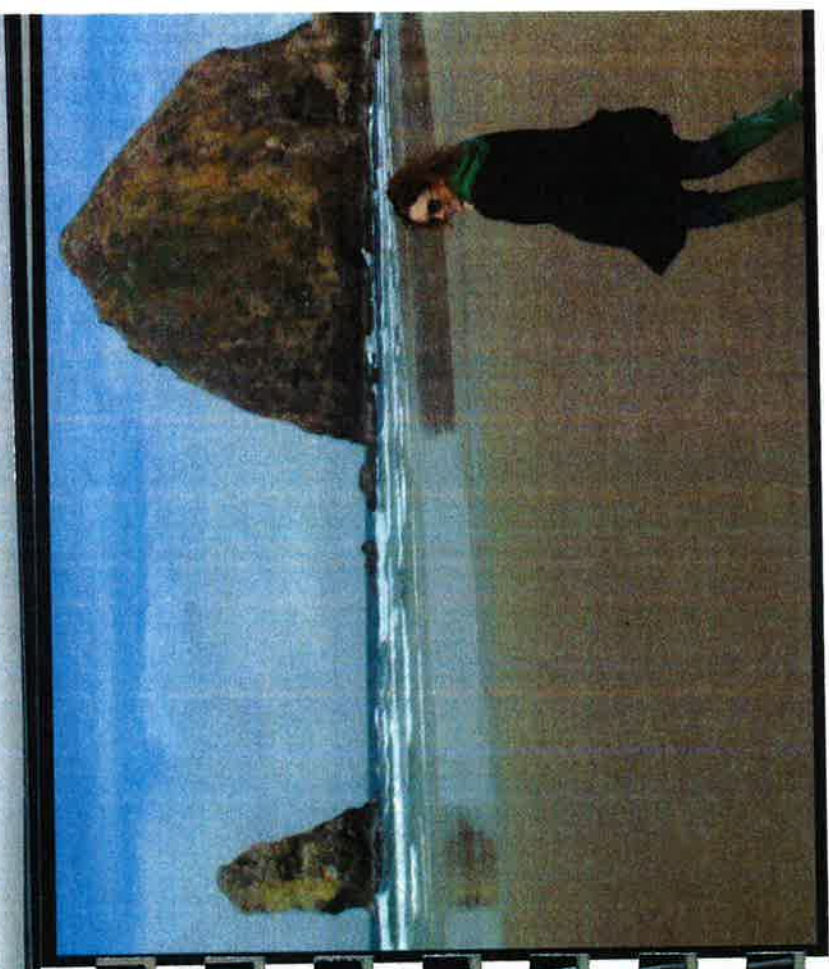

I want real climate policy now because my children deserve a better future than the one that is coming at them fast, unless we act now to curb carbon emissions.
-Daniela Brod

I want real climate policy now because I don't want to see the snow disappear and most importantly, I don't want to witness the death of our oceans and the beings who call the ocean their home. "If the oceans die, we die," said Captain Paul Watson.

-Gabrielle Chadowitz

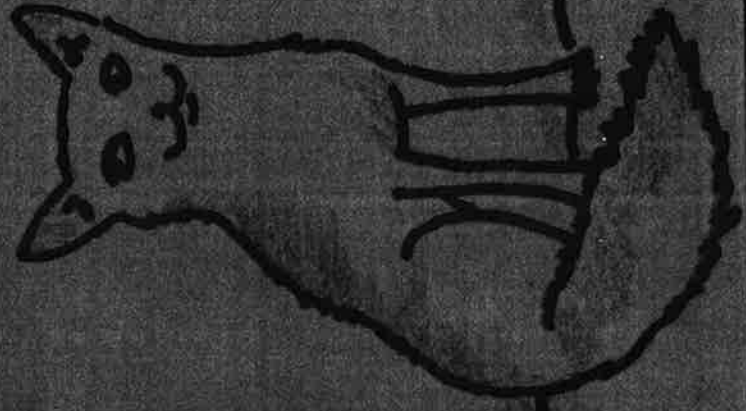

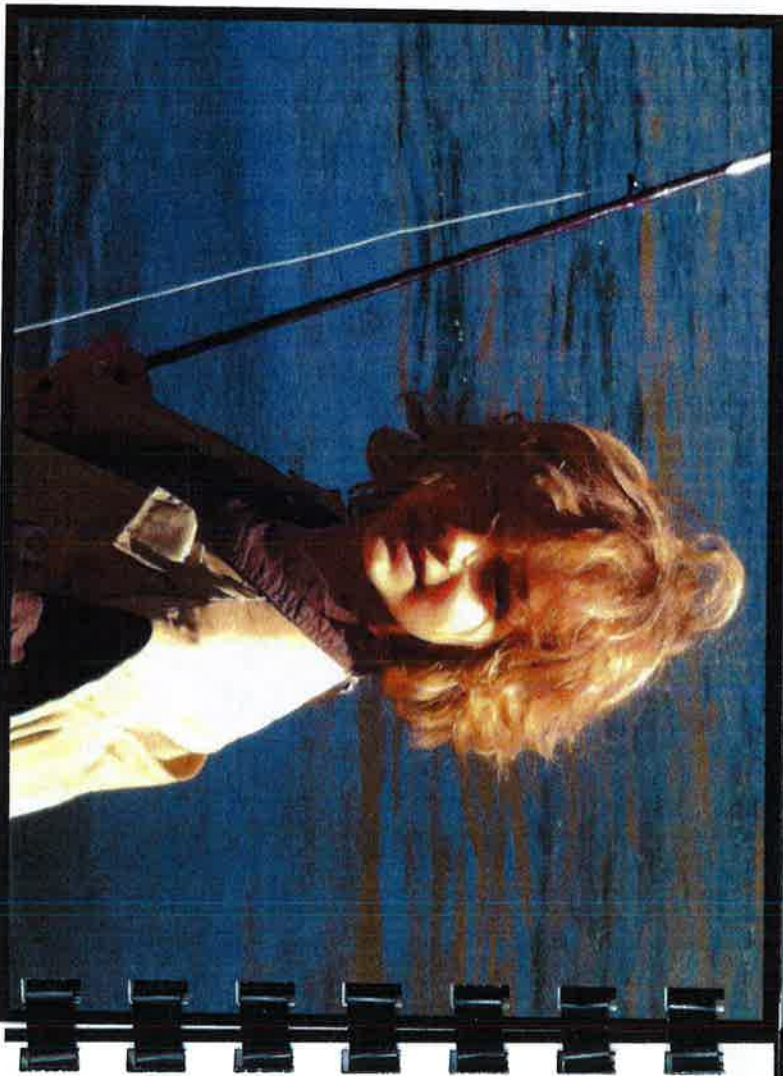

I want real climate policy NOW! because everyday we are destroying our beautiful world, and everyday our world is looking less and less like this.

-Jayden Becker

I want real climate policy now because I don't want to go extinct. This is on you, humans!
-Karolina Stepkowski

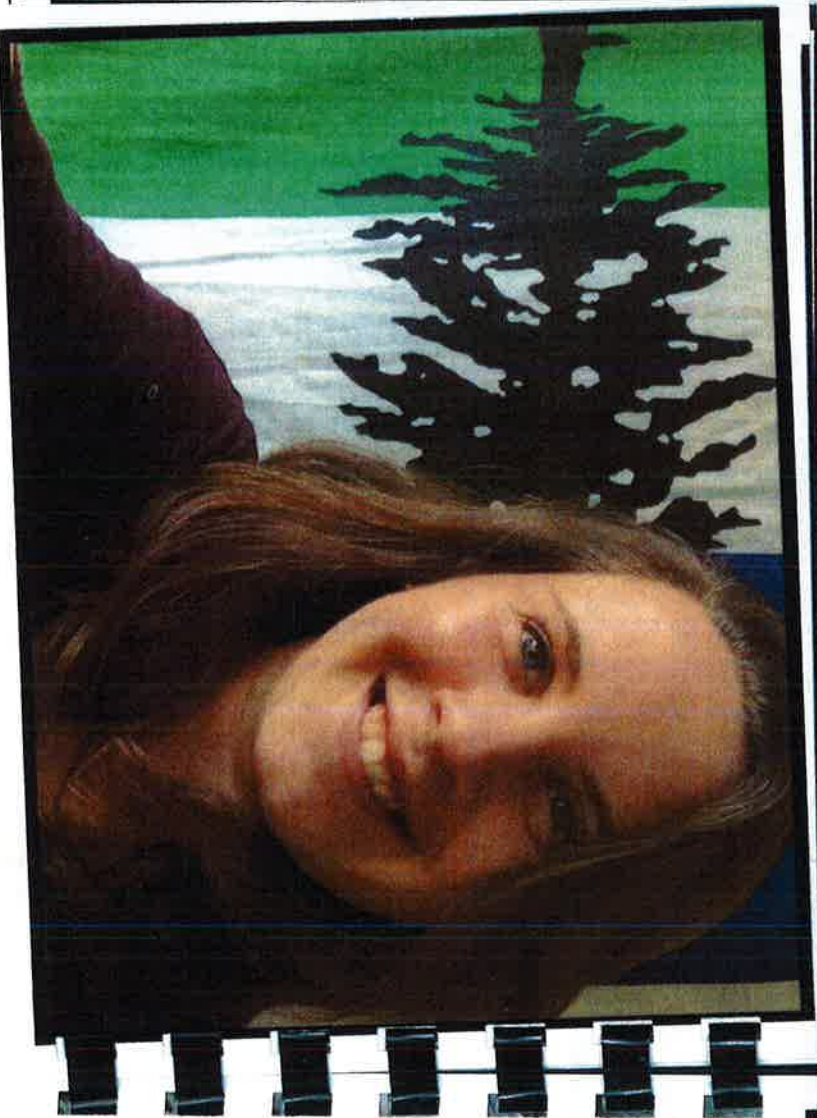

I want real climate policy now because I want the flies to keep hatching, the trout to keep biting, the rivers to keep flowing, and my son Joey to be able to enjoy them all as much as I did, and not wonder why his parents' generation let all this natural beauty go.

-Kathryn Lipari

I want real climate policy now because my son (and all the children around the globe) shouldn't have to grow up in a world with epic droughts and bizarre seasons, high food prices, climate refugees, and not much hope that things will get better. Now is the best time to act!

-Kevin Fitzgerald

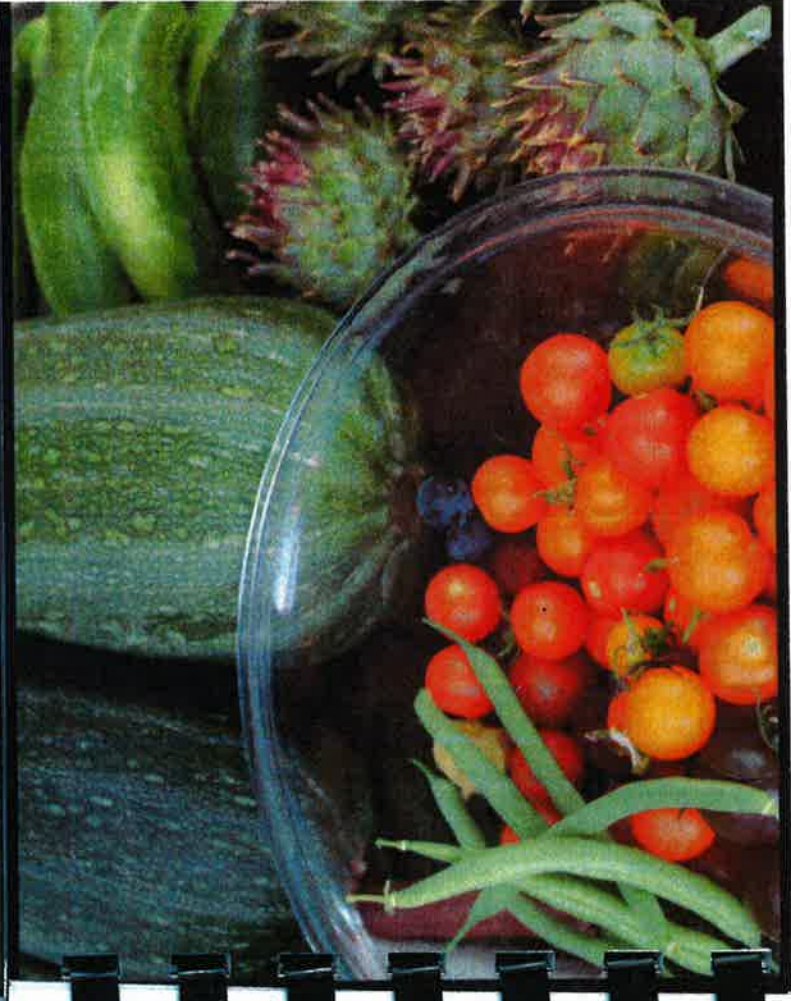

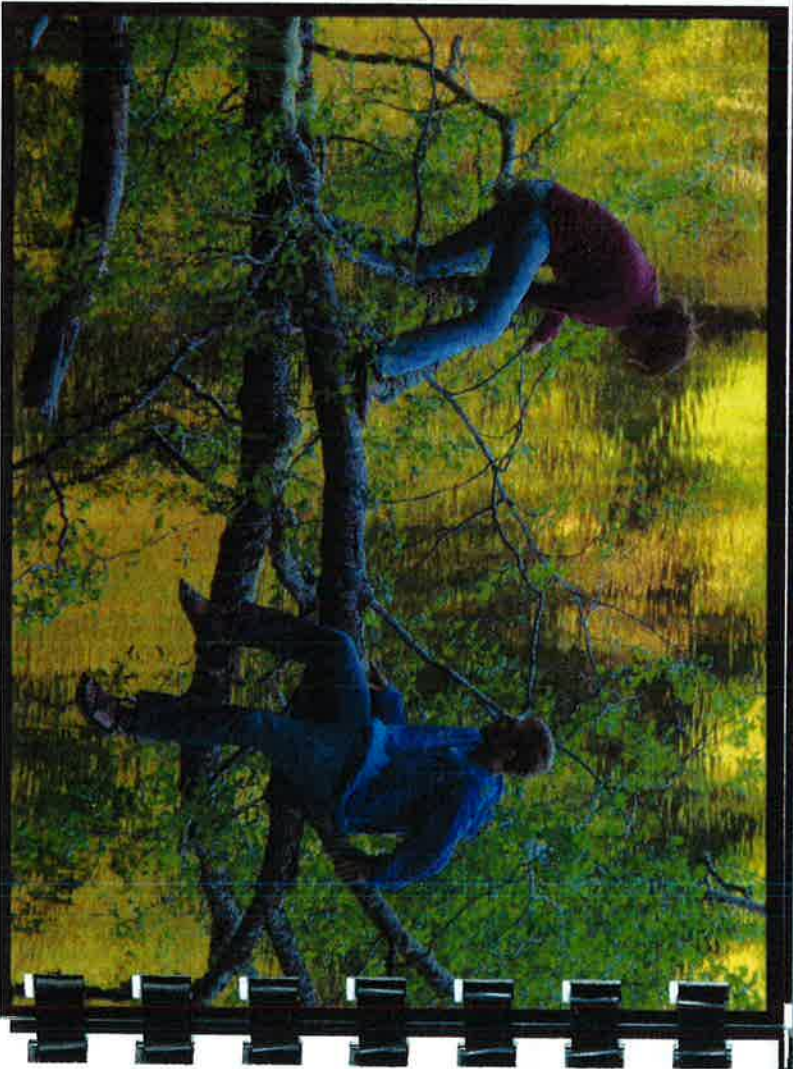

I want real climate policy now because I love my Orego forests and want to keep them safe!

-Laurel Wolf

I want real climate policy now because it's important that everyone should be able to grow their own food if they want to! I'm not interested in losing the power to grow food due to drought, extreme weather events, or increased pests that are likely with climate catastrophe.

-Maya Jarrad

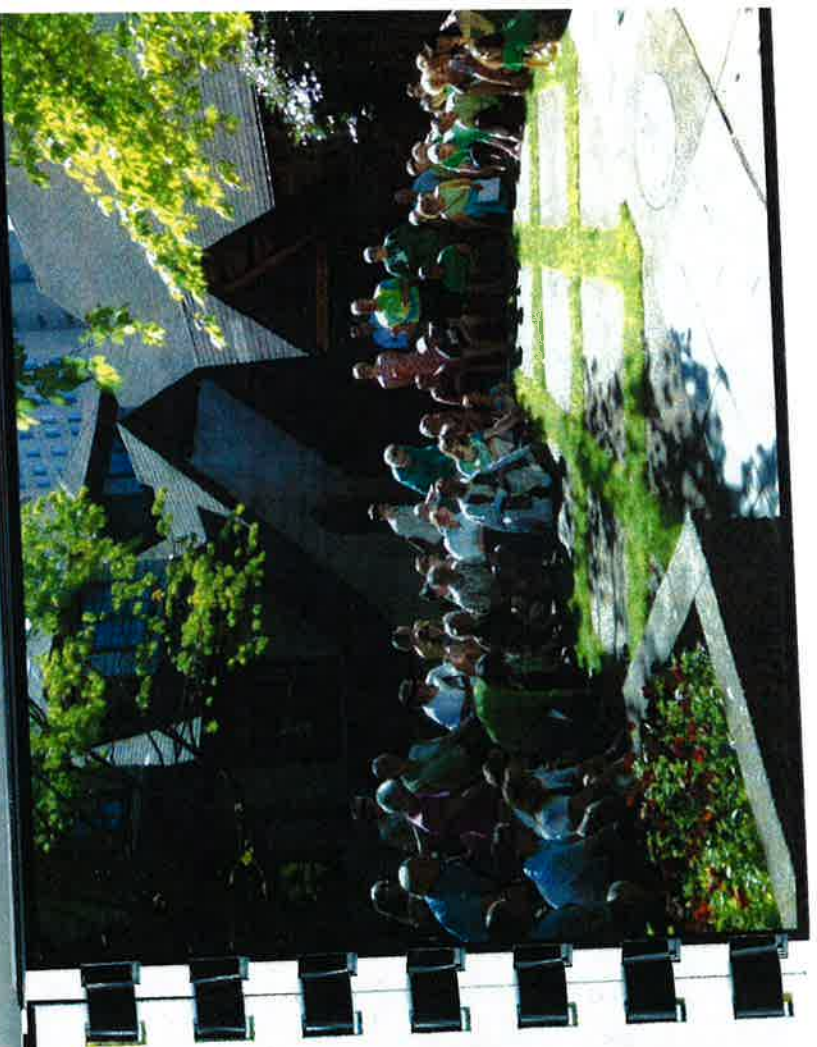

I want real climate policy now because I have two daughters, 3 nieces and 3 nephews, plus many young people friends whom I want to pass on a world worth raising their kids in.

-Noel Chatroux

St. Michael & All Angels is an Episcopal Church in Northeast Portland with six hundred members attending four services each Sunday, including a Misa/Spanish Language service. We want real climate policy now because, as a GreenFaith congregation, we care for the Earth and all of the life it supports and because we

#Touch The Earth Lightly!

-Peter Sergienko

I want real climate policy now because climate warming is real, it is imminent, it is caused by humans, and every day we don't take action to curb our emissions the world is getting warmer, natural disasters are happening more frequently, and ecosystems are slowly devolving into a state of no return. I just graduated from St. Mary's high school in Medford, OR with a class of spectacular people who all have bright futures ahead of them, and it is my hope that our children and our children's children will be able to have bright futures ahead of them as well.

-Sam Becker

I want real climate policy now because I demand that future generations have the opportunity to experience the great outdoors in the PNW.
-Max Meyerhoff

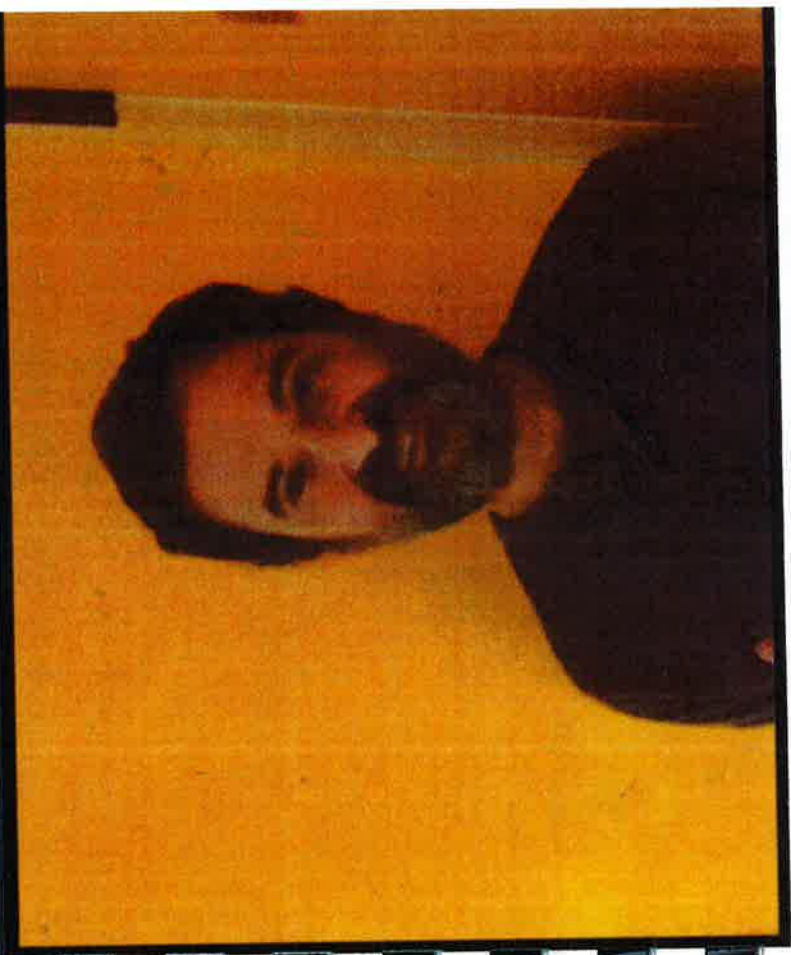

Our family wants fair and effective climate action now---which means putting a price on carbon so that the dreams of our grandchildren are fulfilled. They are trusting us with their future on this small precious planet.

-Jere Grimm & Family

I want real climate policy now because I treasure the world I get to enjoy... the forests, the oceans, the rivers, the intricate web of life... and I want my grandkids and all who come after me to experience the same beauty.

-Harvey Ginsburg

I want real climate policy now because my husband doesn't know what to wear anymore!

-KB Mercer

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because I'm scared it's too late.

-Margaret Moore

WINNING A CARBON PRICE &
DIVIDEND MATTERS TO ME BECAUSE

I'm scared it's too late.

I want real climate policy now because I grew up in Oregon, my parents grew up in Oregon, my grandparents grew up here, as did their parents, and their parents before them. Oregon is my home and it's beautiful. I go to school in NYC, and when I come back to Oregon, I realize what a paradise we live in. I'm scared that the generations after me won't get to experience this place like I've been able to. Please, let's keep Oregon safe.

-Eva Curry

I want real climate policy now because our wild (and tasty) traditions depend on the climate...

-Ryan Stanley

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me
because it's our present.

WINNING A CARBON PRICE &
DIVIDEND MATTERS TO ME BECAUSE...

IT'S IMPORTANT TO MY CHILDREN !!

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me
because it's important to my children.

IT'S OUR PRESENT

I want real climate policy now because we still live in a world where there is a wide diversity of life, and we need to preserve it in perpetuity.

-Don Ewing

I want real climate policy because every natural thing should have the opportunity to be preserved, starting NOW.

-Emily Gass

I want real climate policy now because I have this wonderful family with two beloved granddaughters age 5 and 7, and I want them and their kids to inherit an earth that they can live in.

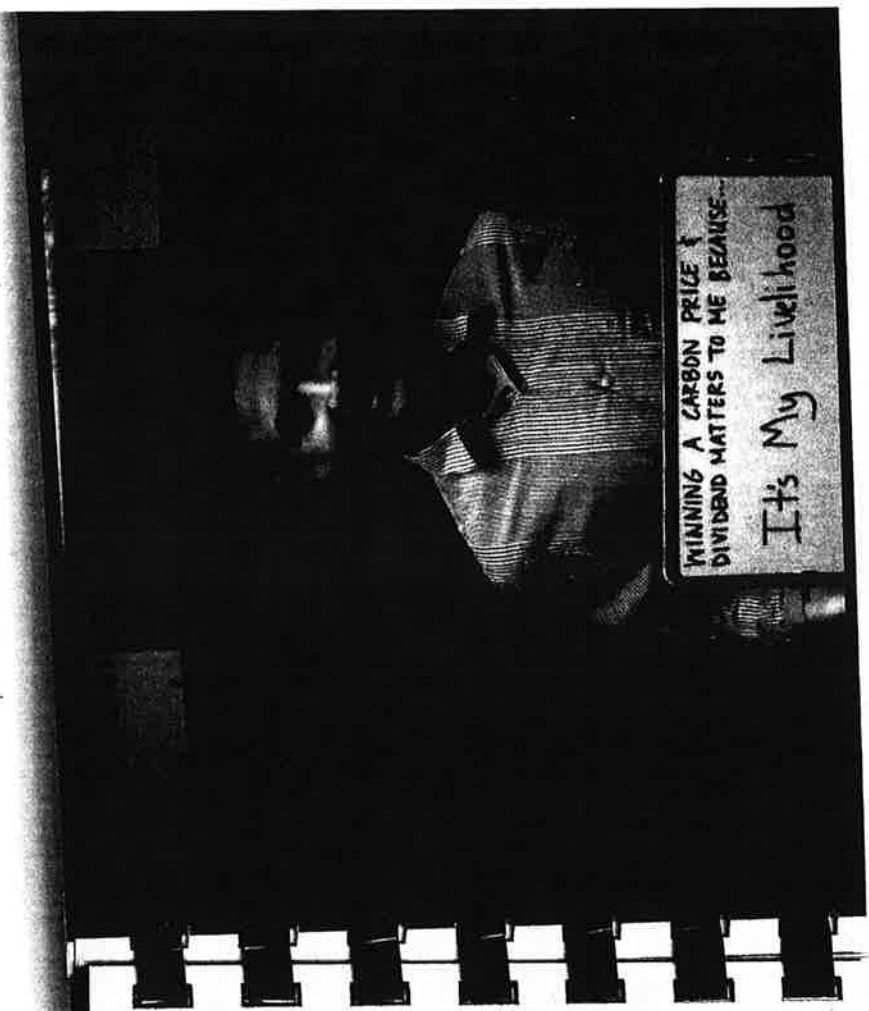

-Alice Suter

because
-Gers

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because it's my livelihood.
-Sam Becker

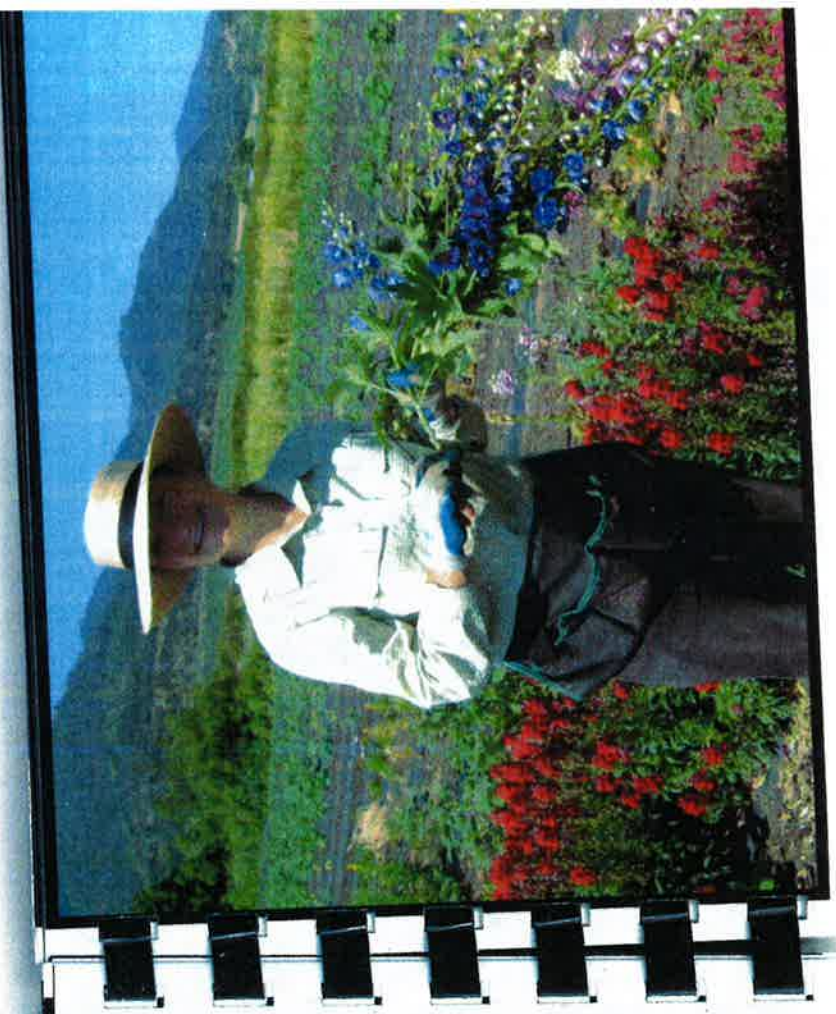

I want real climate policy now because it's an opportune time and it's the moral thing to do. It's opportune because their swell in momentum on actions to mitigate greenhouse gas emissions, at the state level, nationally and internationally. The State Legislature in Oregon has made significant gains with the two favorable reports: one by the Northwest Economic Research Center on how the economy will be affected and another conducted by Regional Economic Models, Inc. Regarding the moral concern, the consequences of no action and tardy actions will be devastating to the poor and the unborn. For over 20 years assessments on the future climate have been generated by distinguished sources: the UN internationally, the US Pentagon and National Commission on Climate Change, and the Oregon Global Warming Commission. The message is the same. Urgent action is needed.

-Don Merrick

I want real climate policy now because it's getting too hot, buggy, and dry for my mama to farm in the Rogue Valley. But when I have kids, I want them to grow up in fields of flowers, too. We know what to do. Oregon can lead the world with a carbon dividend! Time for excuses is over, let's be the ancestors we wish we'd had.

#pricecarbonnow

-Camila Thorndike

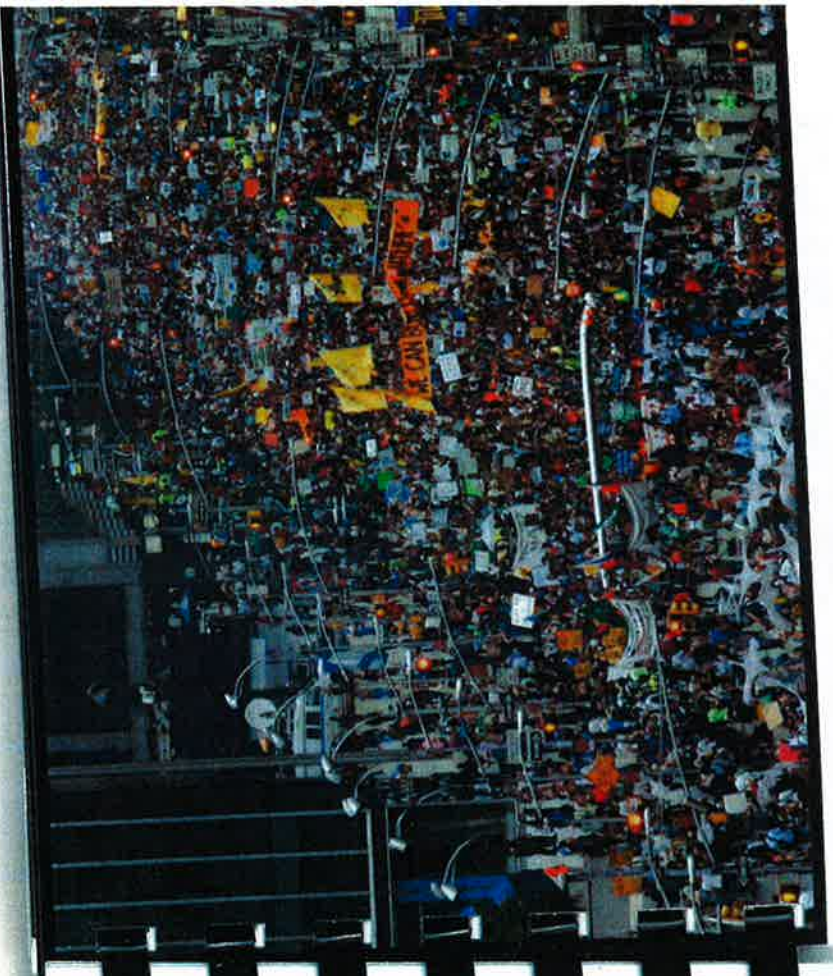

We want real climate change policy NOW because we our home in the Willamette Valley and spent our lives building a sustainable farm and life here to preserve protect the amazing biodiversity. As responsible citizens we must muster the courage to face the reality of climate change, throw everything we have into massive positive solutions NOW. This is a test of our character, and believe our elected officials MUST ACT, do their job protect the citizens who elected them. Putting a price carbon works. We need to do this immediately!

-Deb and Patty McGee and Hine

I want real climate policy now because time is short to do the right thing! The People's Climate Marchers knew that; we all know that. I want my children and grandsons to have the same opportunity that I have had to live in a stable and people friendly environment.

-Hans and Kathy West

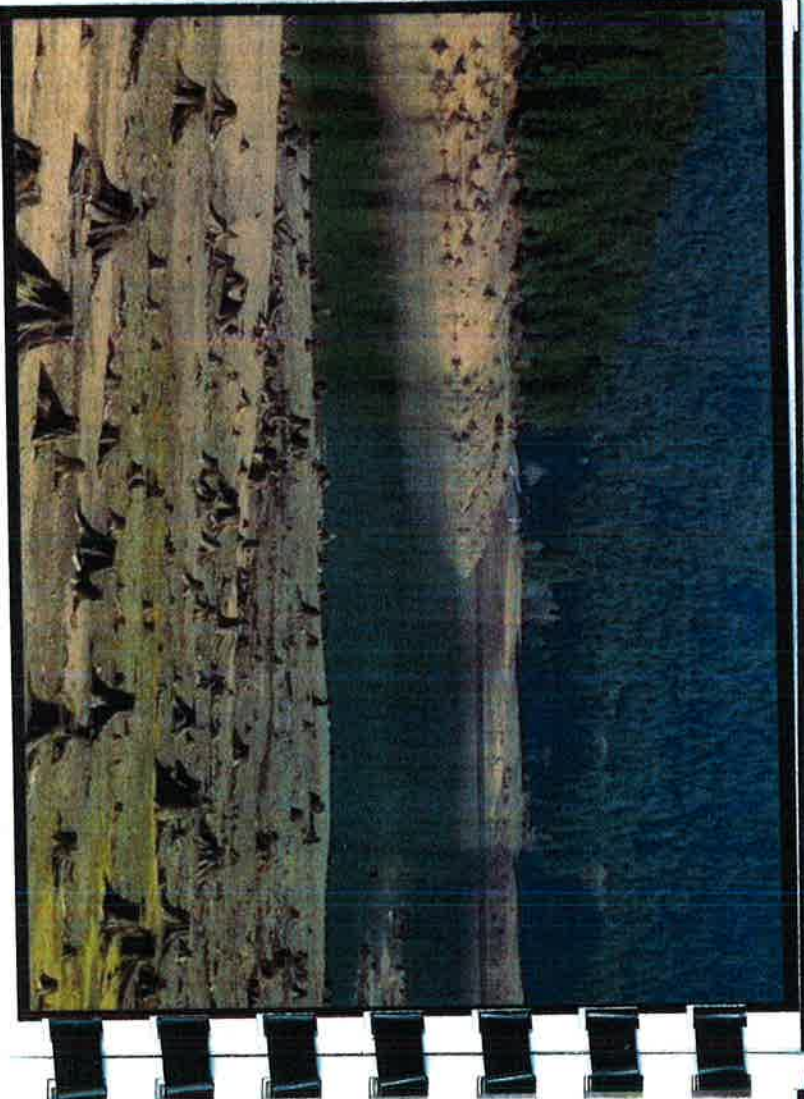

I want real climate policy now because the future of the human race and the quality of life for us and future generations is gravely threatened. On the other hand climate is the first truly global issue and could bring the whole world together for the first time.

-Jesse Phillips

I want a fair and effective climate policy so my family will be able to live a normal, sustainable life.
-Kamaria Watson

I want real climate policy now because I want my children and future grandchildren to enjoy the opportunities for economic stability and optimism that my generation grew up with. I want to protect the wonders of Oregon as we have known it. I was horrified this April when my daughter texted me this photo of Detroit Lake. With very little water in the spring, how will it look in August???? Wake up people! We knew Climate Chaos was coming - now it is here! Act while we still have some opportunity to avoid total disaster!

-Kathleen Newman

I want real climate policy now because I'm afraid for my children. This is about our legacy - our kids deserve to have opportunities and to inherit a world that is at least as good as what we inherited. Climate change is the worst gift we can pass along to our children and grandchildren - and I want our elected representatives to take action that will cement their own legacy as leaders in the fight against climate chaos.

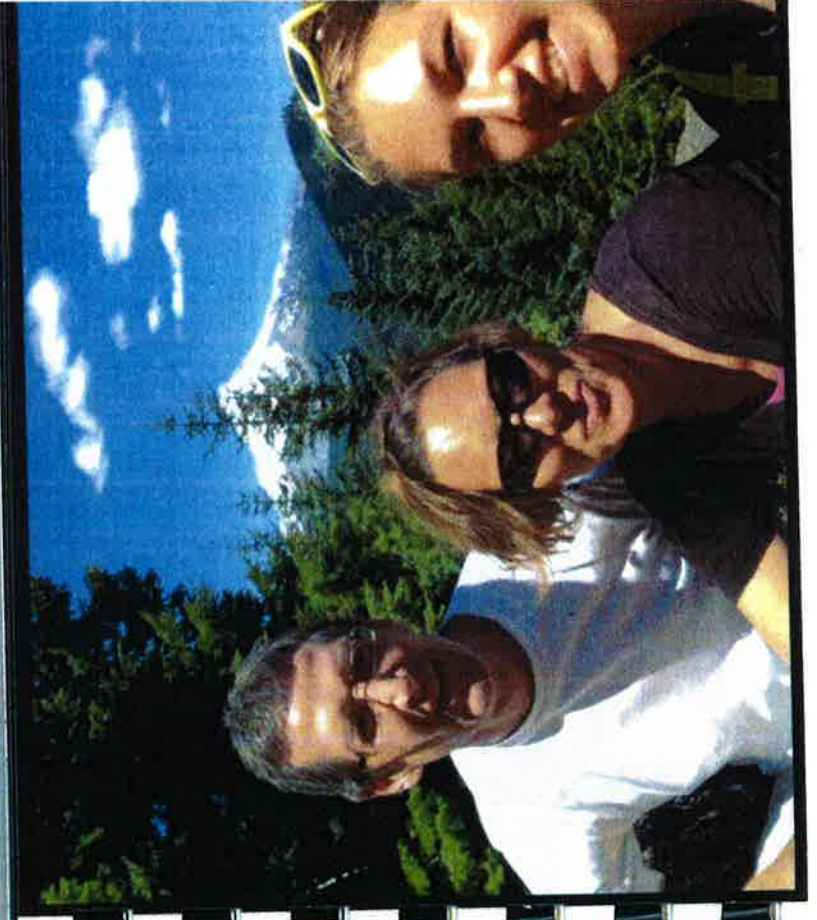

-Ken Crocker

I want real climate policy now because ski seasons are getting shorter and my favorite mountain hasn't been able to open for the past two seasons.
-Madeleine McNally

I want real climate policy now because every day counts when you are trying to improve the future for our children and our planet.
-Melanie Ronai

I want real climate policy now because my niece should have the chance to grow up in Oregon with clean air & clean water that's not poisoned by corporate polluters are currently able to pollute unlimited amounts and are held accountable by no one.

-Nathan Howard

I want real climate policy now because I don't want extinction.
-Richard Hughes

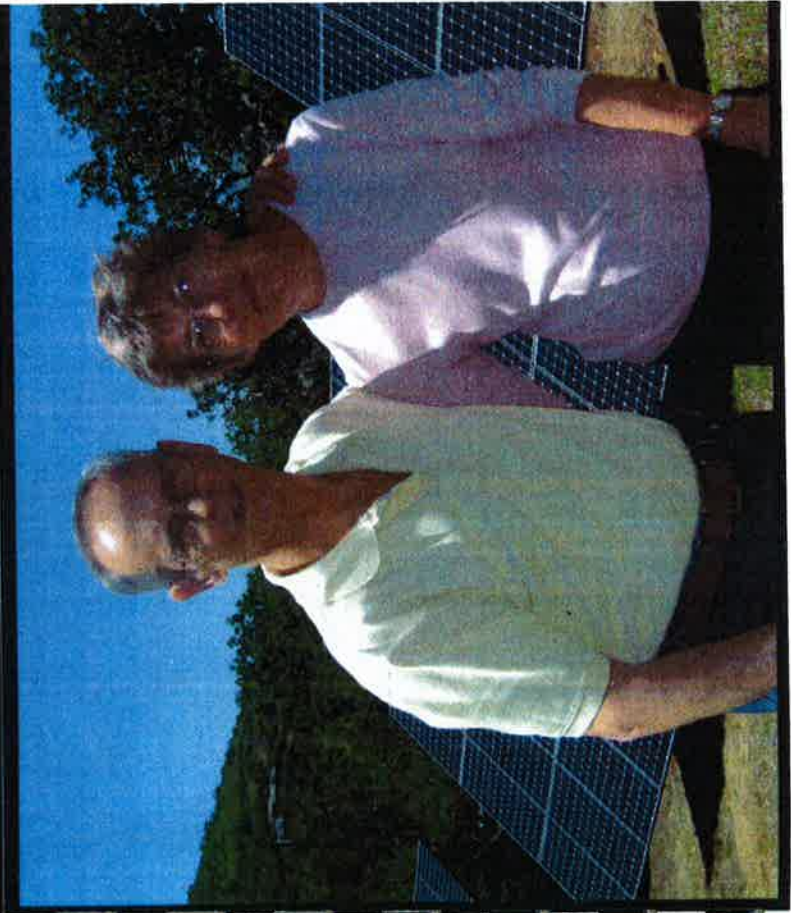

I want real climate policy now because I care about my generation, my children's generation, the economy and our resources. California is in a severe drought and Oregon must be next. In Bend, OR we saw one of the worst winters ever, hardly any snowfall, which affects our local economy, with many of us depending on Mt. Bachelor's winter season. The effects of climate change are real and scary and urgent. The younger generation, which I am a part of, will suffer the most, with droughts, more air pollution, deforestation and resource scarcity. I urge the State Legislature to pass fair and effective climate policy THIS SESSION. The Oregon representatives and senators must prove their worth and take action now or they are choosing to put their constituents and children in peril.

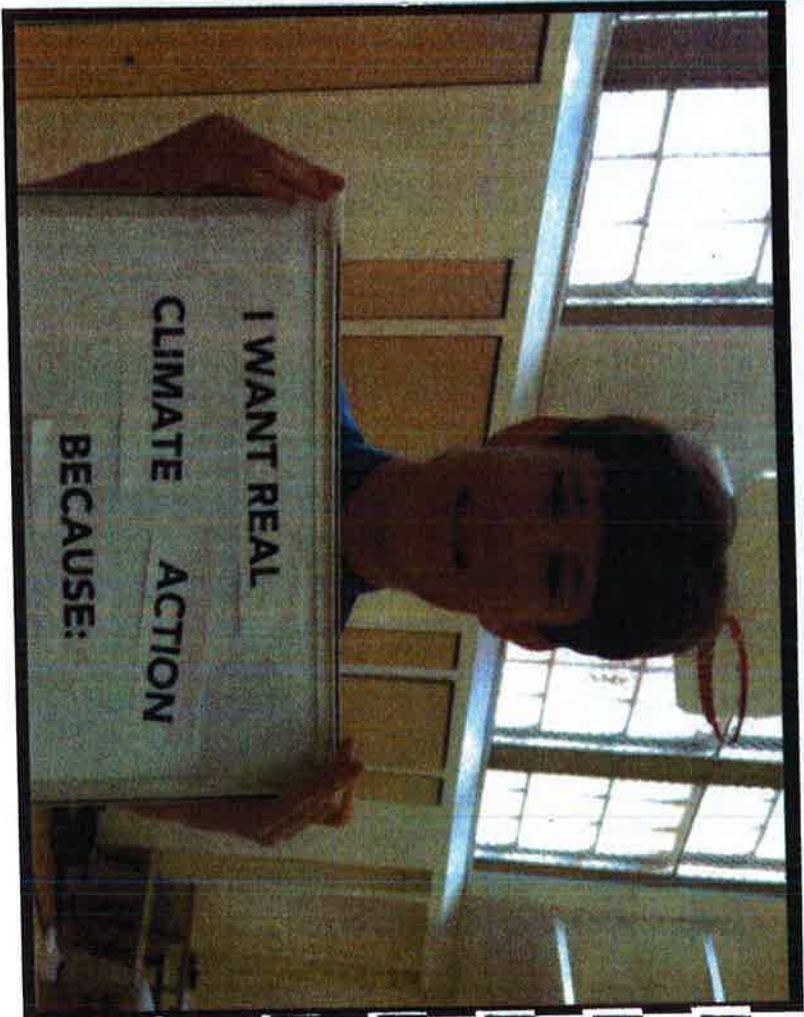

-Savanna Jones

We want real climate policy now because our grandchildren deserve to inherit a planet that nourishes their hopes and dreams as it has our own.

-Ted & Tilly Gibbs

I want real climate action because I want the human race to survive.

-Alan Liebert

I want real climate policy now because accountability matters.

-Kali Doten

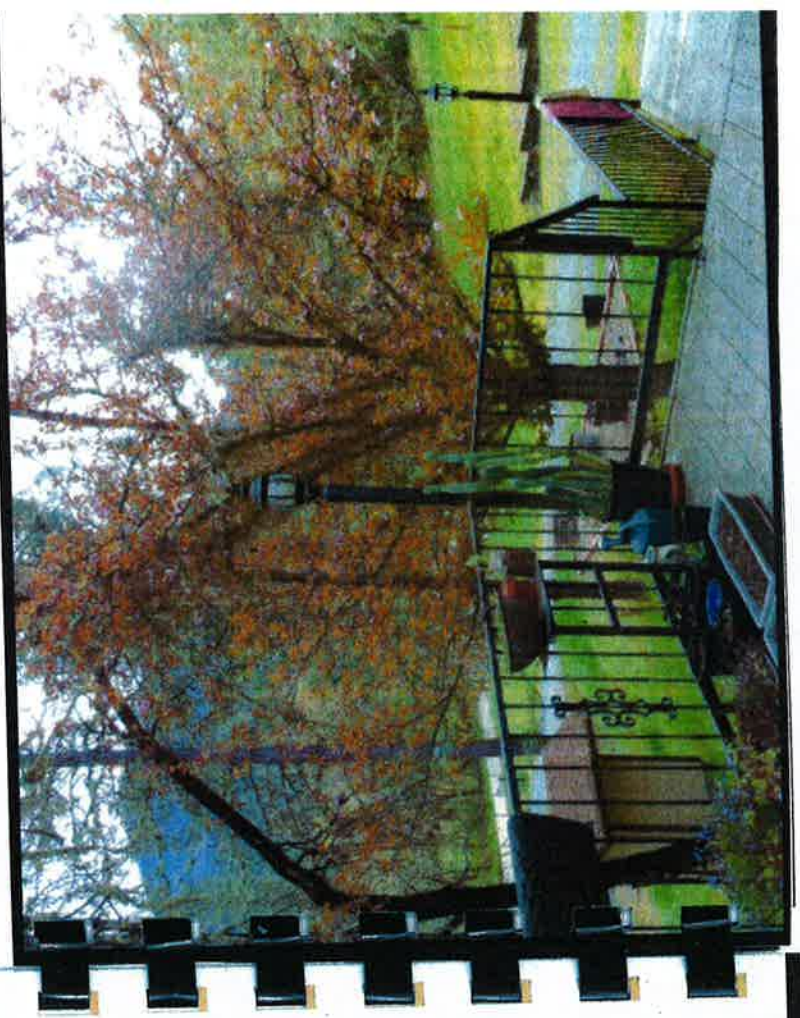

I want real climate policy now because I want to make sure future generations get to experience the same wonders of Oregon that I have.

-Rowan Hardenbrook

I want real climate policy now because we all need fresh water and healthy soil.
-Vernon Huffman

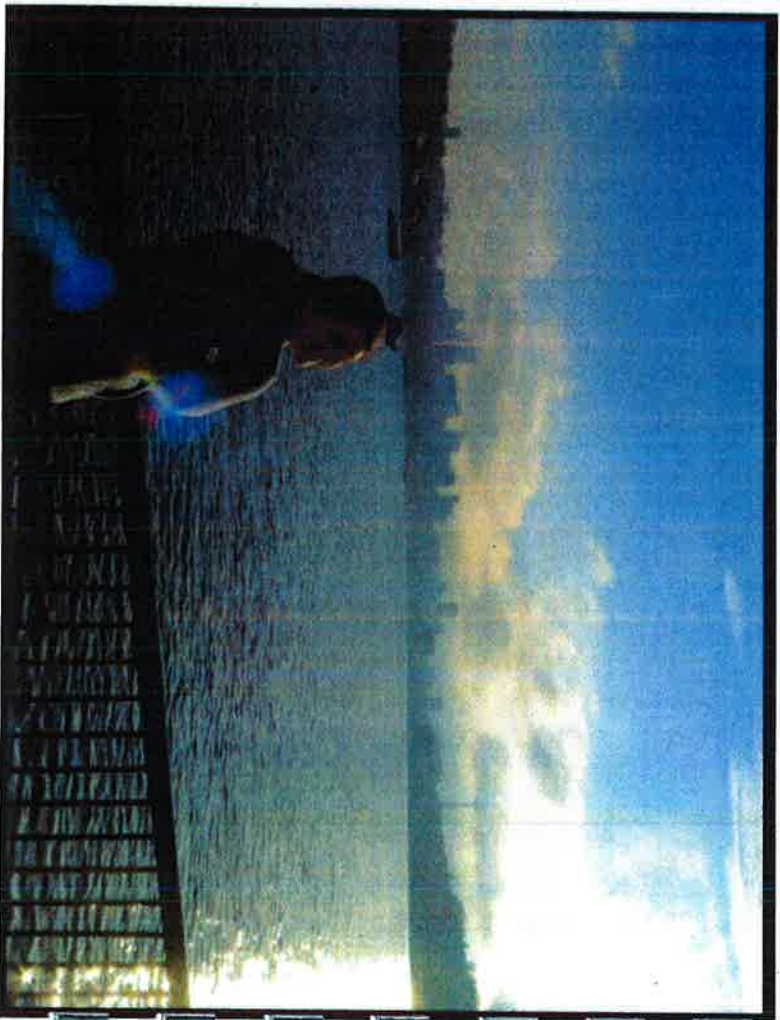

I want real climate action now because I want my grandchildren to thrive.
-Noelle Bell

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because it is a way to save future generations.

-Josefina Van Ausdal

I want real climate policy now because our children a our children's children deserve better than what we a doing now.
-Laine Atcheson

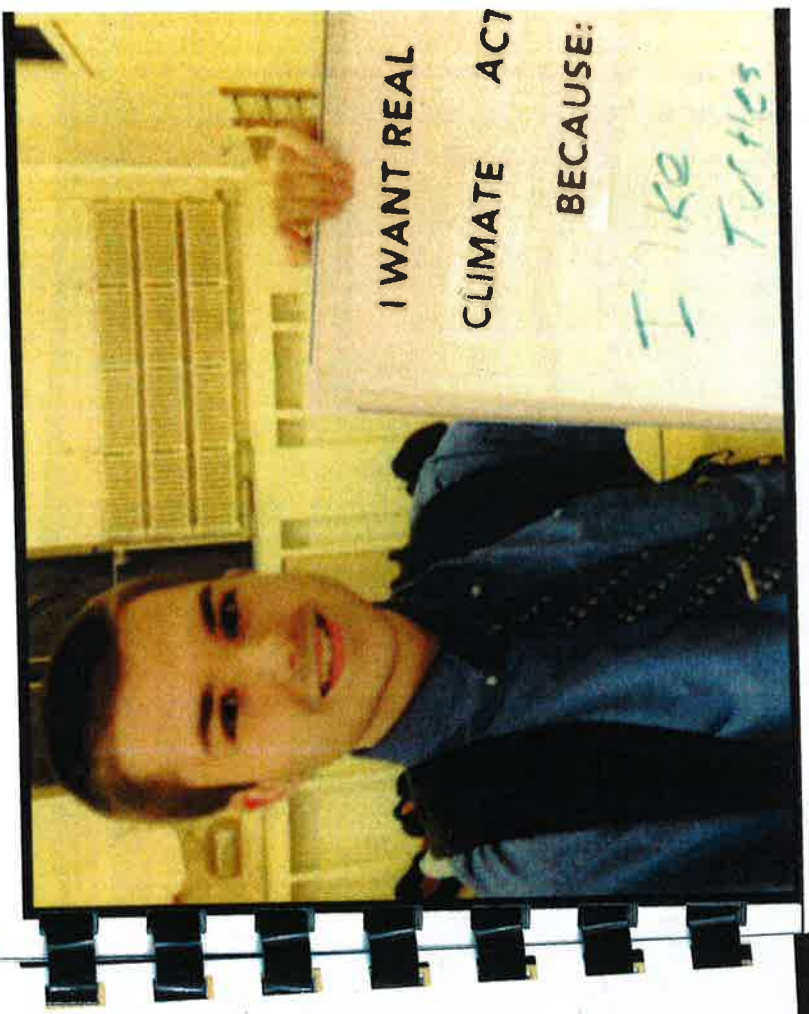

I want real climate action because I like to live.
-Jordanos Lincoln

I want real climate action because I want my future descendants to be able to live a normal and stable life.
-Kamaria Watson

I want real climate action because I like turtles.
-Mitchell Guffy

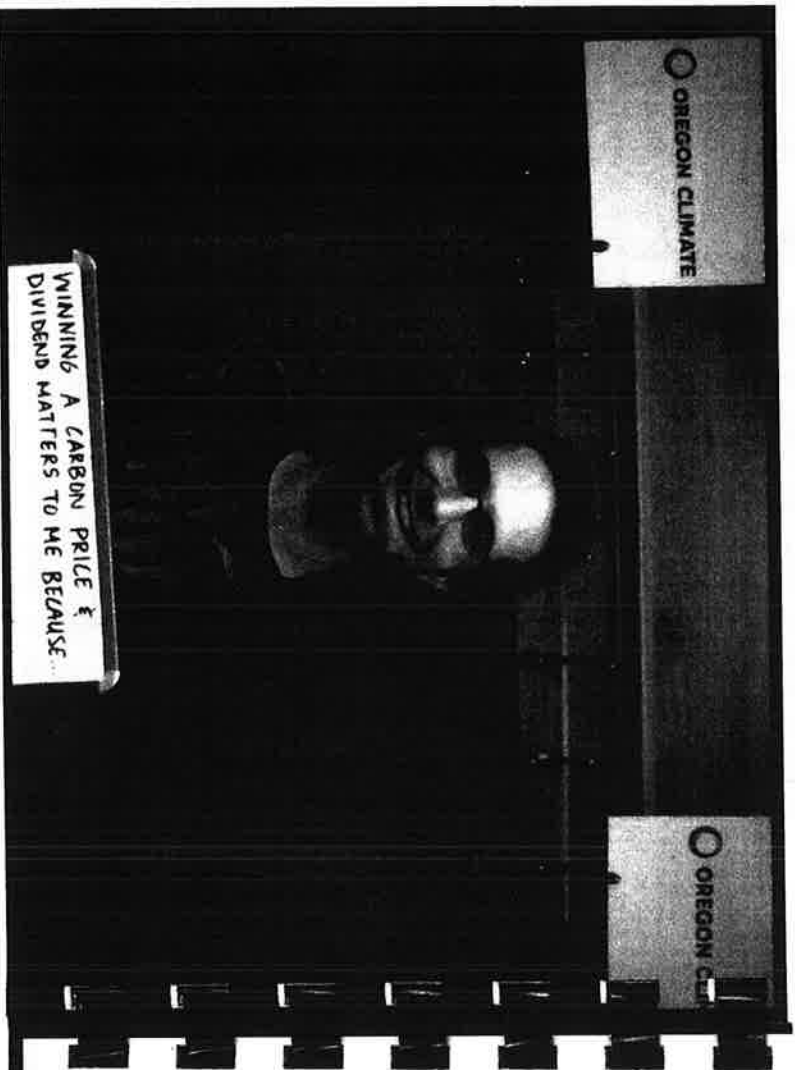

I am a farmer and am concerned about diminishing snowpack levels and available irrigation water necessary to produce our crops. Thanks for taking action now to keep carbon where it belongs.....in the earth.

-Chris Hardy

I want real climate policy now because life on this planet is mine to share and protect!

-Liza Maltzberger

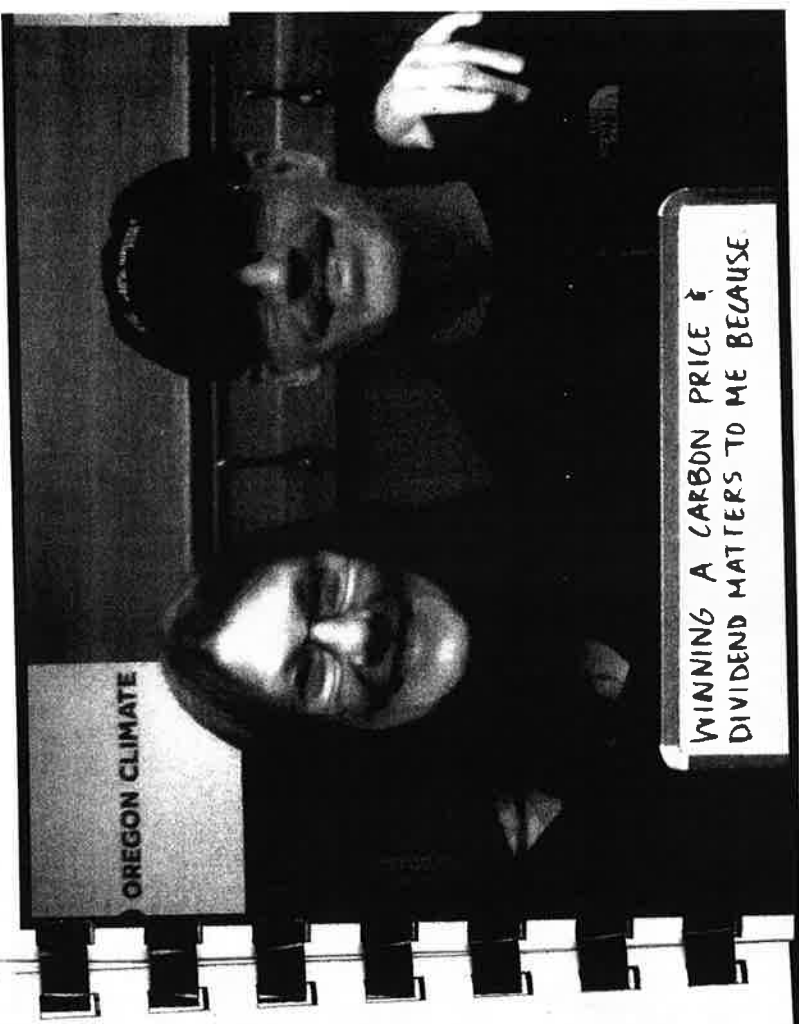

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because I care!

-Alex Harris

Winning a carbon price and dividend matters to me because global warming sucks we can't afford to wait.
-Jan and Bob Harkness

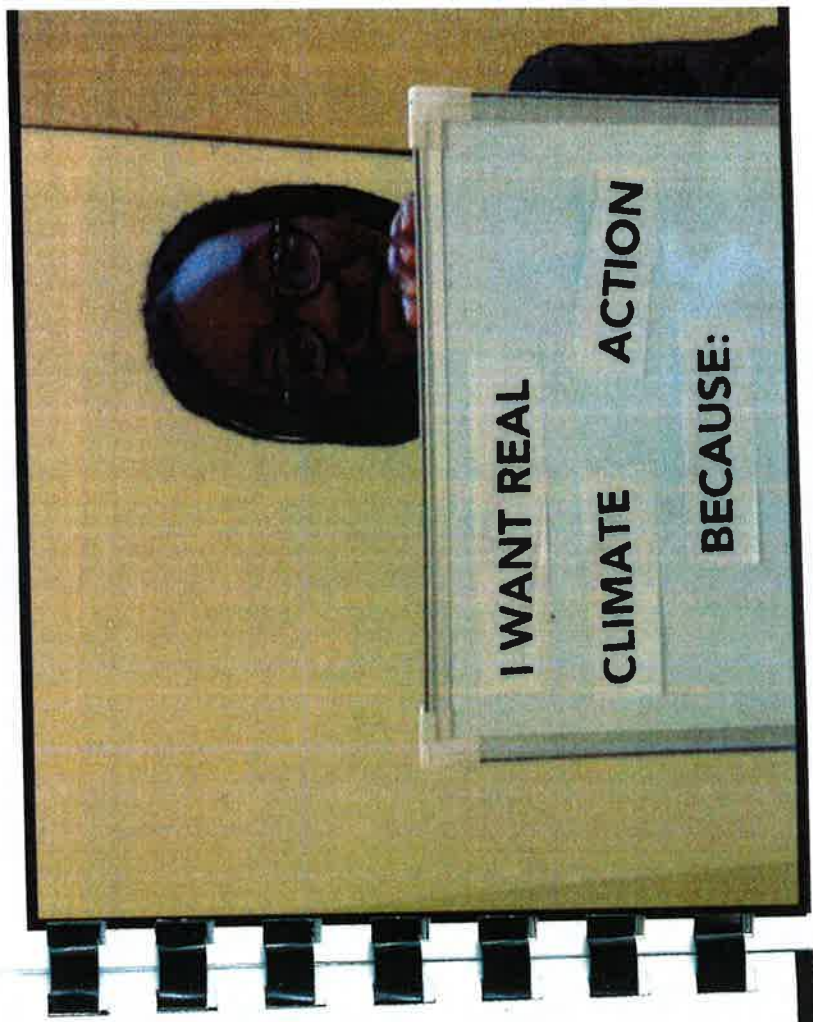

I want real climate policy now because I want a future for this beautiful, intelligent, 5-year-old. Bold political leadership is needed to transition us to a low-carbon future for the sake of our children.

-Debra Higbee-Sudyka

I want real climate policy now because I want there to be a planet for me to lead on.

-Aaliyah Joseph

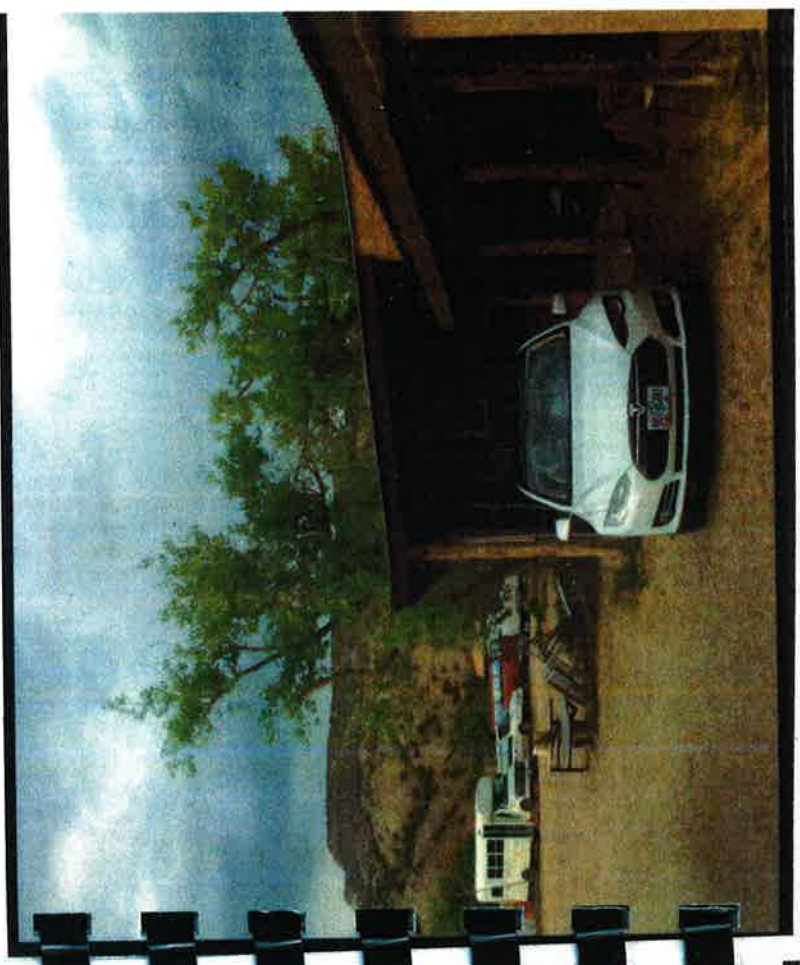

I want real climate policy now because beautiful Oregon a real chance of showing true leadership in the critical ef to preserve the planet. Do the RIGHT thing for our futu

-Claire Baker

I want real climate policy now because I want electric cars like Teslas to be the norm, not the outlier.

-Ari Ronai-Durning

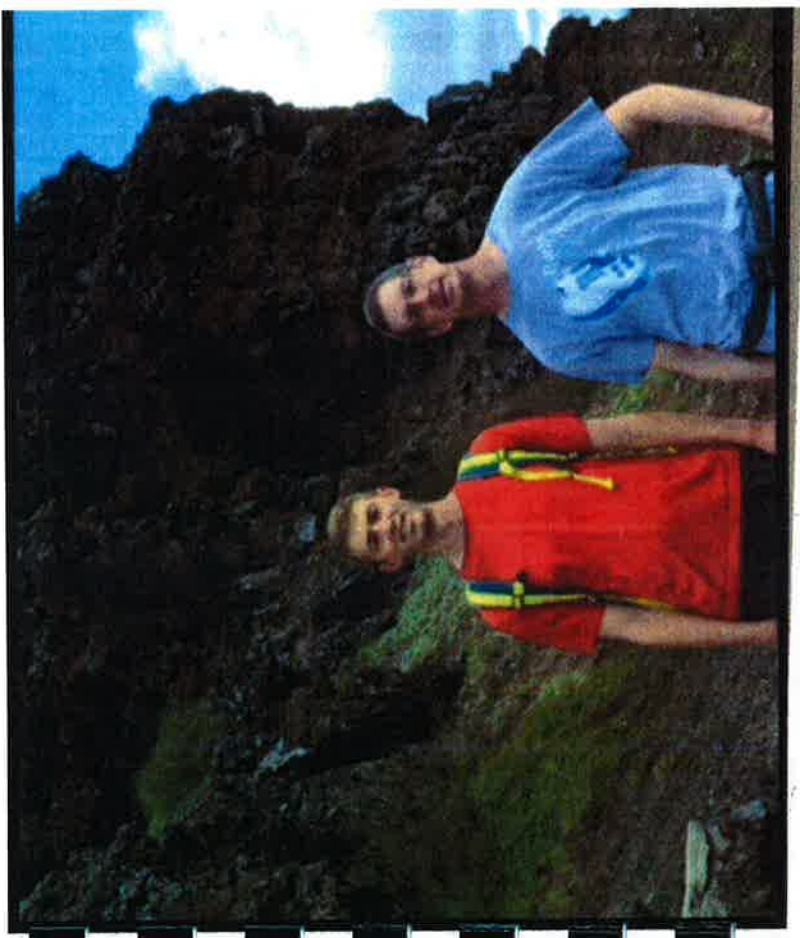

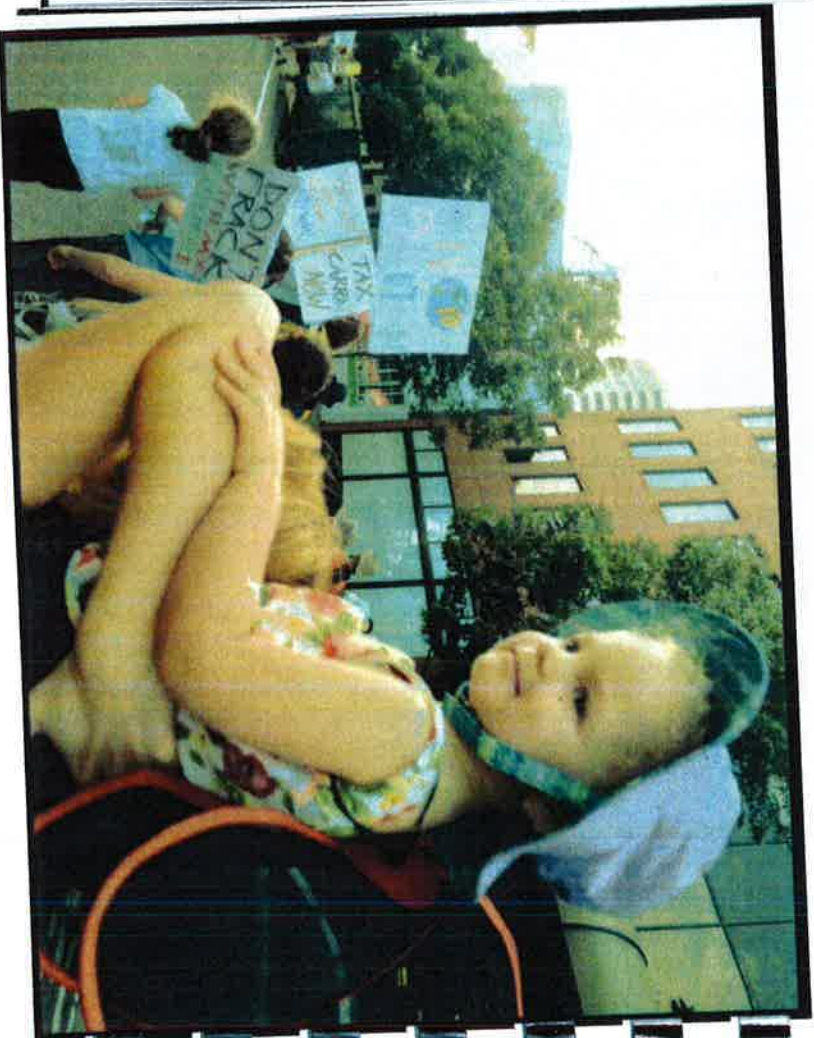

I want real climate policy now because the future is at stake. Nothing is more important than ensuring our planet is still livable. Let's put a price on carbon!

-Heidi Cody

I want real climate policy now because we are running out of time.

-Jonathan Durning

I want real climate policy now because our children trust us with their futures.
-Kate Parker

I want real climate policy now because this beautiful place we call home fills up our soul and we have to stop polluting it!
-Keeley Weber

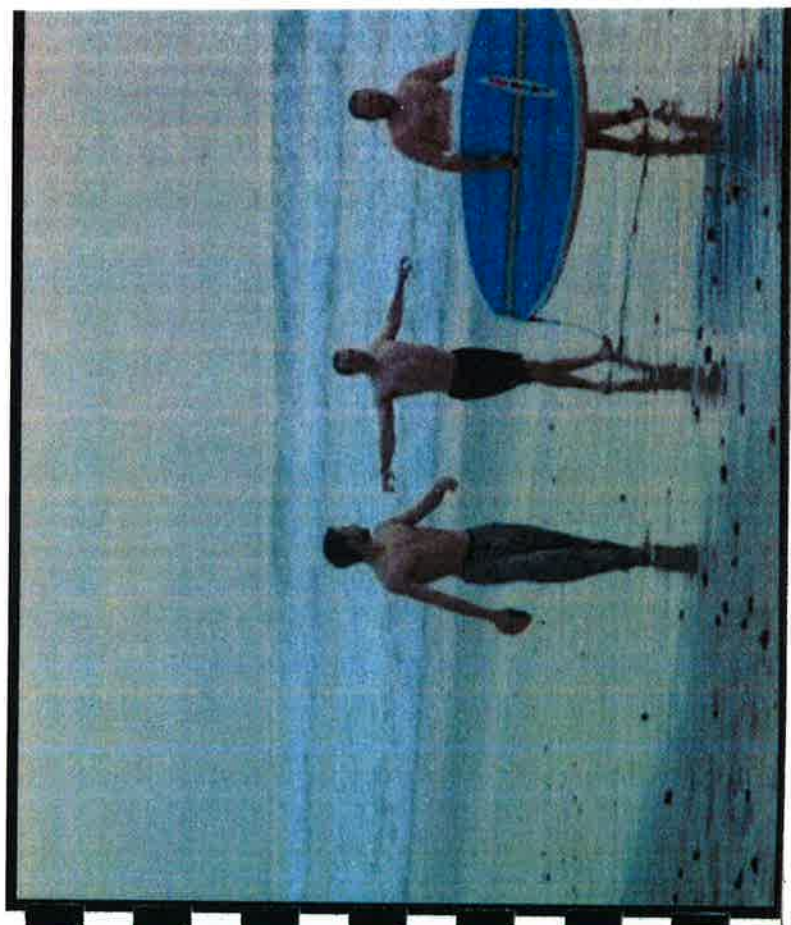

I want real climate policy now because Houston is flooding, California is dried up, and India is 122 degrees

Enough is enough.

-Marni Koopman

I want real climate change policy because I want my children and grandchildren to experience the same magnitude of incredible natural adventures that I have been lucky enough to be a part of. I want climate change policy now to show that we can begin to preach and practice intergenerational equity.

-Maxwell Morrison

I want real climate policy now because this lush forest Salmon River fed by Mt. Hood glaciers is going . .
going . . .
-Mj Cody

I want real climate policy now because this is our beautiful Oregon, my home. Our lives, and all life, depend on loving caring for it.

-Pauline Washburn
