ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

-1 Replaces phrase "victims of electronic harassment" with "survivors of electronic harassment."

BACKGROUND:

When a person is convicted of a crime and placed on probation or released on post-prison supervision, the court, the State Board of Parole and Post-Prison Supervision or community corrections is authorized to impose special requirements that remain applicable while the person remains on supervision. House Bill 3061 authorizes those entities to prohibit a person from using an Internet website to send an anonymous text message, if the person is supervised for dealing drugs or committing domestic violence or telephonic harassment.

House Bill 3061 also creates a Task Force on Anonymous Text Message Services. The Task Force is comprised of nine, volunteer members; four nonvoting legislators and five voting members appointed by the Oregon Attorney General. The Task Force is to be provided staff support by the Department of Justice and is charged with studying "the changes in Oregon law needed to regulate and prohibit the use of Internet websites to send anonymous text messages for the purpose of harassing and abusing other persons and engaging in the unlawful delivery of controlled substances."
