WHY FOCUS ON MOTHERS?

 84% of incarcerated mothers had at least one child living with them before incarceration.

- Children of incarcerated mothers are 2.5 times more likely to also become incarcerated in their lifetime than if their father is incarcerated.
- Connectivity with family is the leading factor for successful reentry.

THE FPP IMPACT

- In the last 18 months, FPP has saved the state $300,000 in foster care expenses.
- FPP is having a positive impact on the state women's prison population and the associated costs of incarceration have been reduced as a result.
- Children of FPP participants are performing well on academic indicators like school attendance and reading at grade level.

With an investment of $400,000, the legislature has ensured that fewer children are being placed in foster care, incarcerated mothers are less likely to recidivate, and children of participants are exhibiting successful outcomes academically, socially, behaviorally and emotionally. This investment has created safer communities and relieves the strain on state resources by interrupting intergenerational criminal justice involvement.

SB 241:

Bill of Rights for Children of Incarcerated Parents

SB: 241A: Bill of Rights for Children of Incarcerated Parents

SB 241A creates a Bill of Rights for Children of Incarcerated Parents, ensuring that every child whose parent is arrested and/or incarcerated is guaranteed the rights that follow:

- ▶ To be protected from additional trauma at the time of parental arrest.
- ► To be informed of the arrest in an age-appropriate manner.
- ► To be heard and respected by decision makers when decisions are made about the child.
- ► To be considered when decisions are made about the child's parent.
- ► To be cared for in the absence of the child's parent in a way that prioritizes the child's physical, mental and emotional needs.
- ► To speak with, see and touch the incarcerated parent.
- ► To be informed about local services and programs that can provide support to the child as the child deals with the parent's incarceration.
- ► To not be judged, labeled or blamed for the parent's incarceration.
- ► To have a lifelong relationship with the incarcerated parent.
