Senate Rules Committee
OR

Dear Committee,

There have been too many instances where the people of this country actually selected a different person than the one who was inaugurated.

It has been several centuries since the current rules for the election were instituted. We no longer use buggy whips or ride horses to get around, (although it might be a good idea), but we can get to the East Coast in a matter of hours....faster than Lewis and Clark. My point....we need to update the system by which we elect our President.

It is about as relevant as the buggy whip.

Sincerely,

Ms. Joann Macey
