BACKGROUND:

Oregon law defines cyberbullying as the use of any electronic communication device to harass, intimidate or bully. Under current law, school districts must adopt policies on prohibiting and responding to cyberbullying and must provide anti-cyberbullying training to students and staff. In addition, Oregon law encourages school districts to work with students, parents, law enforcement and other partners to develop programs to address cyberbullying. The bill would encourage school districts to collaborate with social media providers to work on cyberbullying issues, including developing agreements with school districts on how to disclose online content related to incidences of cyberbullying.
