BACKGROUND:

The federal earned income tax credit was enacted in 1975 as a temporary refundable credit “to offset the effects of the Social Security tax and rising food and energy costs on lower income workers and to provide a work incentive for parents with little or no earned income.” The Oregon earned income tax credit was created in 1997 at a rate of five percent of the federal credit. It was initially nonrefundable, but in 2006 it became refundable. The percentage was increased to six percent in 2008 and to eight percent in 2013. In 2016, the percentage was increased to eleven percent for taxpayers with a dependent under the age of three. The credit is scheduled to sunset on January 1, 2020. Senate Bill 758 increases the Oregon credit from eight percent of the federal credit to twelve percent; and for taxpayers with a dependent under the age of three, increases the credit from eleven percent to fifteen percent.

According to the State of Oregon Tax Expenditure Report: 2019-21 Biennium, the earned income tax credit for tax years 2017-2019 had a revenue impact of 103, 600, 000.
