

Requiring vaccination that contains aborted fetal cells is an unethical, immoral requirement going against nature. If people choose to use a vaccine that contains fetal cells it is their right but they should also be advised of what the vaccine ingredients are prior to consent. It goes against a lot of people's conscience, religious or not.