Members of Environment and Natural Resources Committee:

My name is Deb Mayer. I represent Parents Across America for Safe Technology.

Please pass SB 281 relating to labeling wireless digital screen devices. Manufacturers already provide safety information about their products. The problem is that it is buried so deeply inside the device itself that most people don't know it exists. We are asking that manufacturers make that safety information visible to the consumer as a pamphlet or manual in the packaging of the product. In addition to safety instructions, product information should contain relevant warnings about possible harmful health affects including age recommendations and addiction labels.

Before we knew better, we ...

encouraged pregnant women to smoke,

fed sugar-laden colas to babies,

and exposed children to lead paint.

The first step is to recognize the problem. Now that we know better, we must label wireless digital devices that can harm us. It's time.

Respectfully,
Deb Mayer
