EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

-1 Removes absolute exemption from disclosure under public record laws. subjects disclosure of non-personally identifiable information obtained by tip line to public interest test under ORS 192.345. Exempts personally identifiable information from disclosure under public records laws. Retains disclosure of personally identifiable information to tip line staff, educational entity, service provider, or law enforcement for the purpose of follow-up contact.

BACKGROUND:

The Oregon State Police contracts with a vendor to provide a 24-hour school-safety report program, called "Safe Oregon Tip Line." Tips may be submitted by parents, students, staff or community members and can be submitted in a number of ways, including via e-mail, app, voice, or text. Once a tip is received, the information in the tip is assessed and the school is contacted. The person reviewing the information may also contact law enforcement.

House Bill 2051 specifies that personally identifiable information that is shared by a person making a tip is not subject to disclosure under Oregon's public records laws. It allows sharing of information as necessary for follow-up contact or to provide further information amongst the tip line staff, the relevant school authorities, a service provider, such as a mental health counselor, and law enforcement. The measure does allow the State Police to share information in a summary or aggregate report that does not include personally identifiable information.
