

We are in favor of a national popular vote for president. We have seen the electoral college diverge from the vote of the people even when there were millions of votes left on the table. In these recent cases we have seen some disastrous consequences including the current president who lost by several million but was still put in office. We need the national popular vote interstate compact. Dell Goldsmith and Robin McLeod