

Declaration on Human Rights and Climate Change

All human beings, animals and living systems have the right to a secure, healthy and ecologically sound earth.

All human beings have the right to climate education and human rights education and to hold, express, and disseminate ideas and information regarding them.

All persons, states, and business enterprises have a moral responsibility to avoid practices known to contribute to climate damage.