BACKGROUND:

Each school board in Oregon is required to have policies that outline its response to sexual conduct by teachers. ORS 339.372. Policies must require all school employees who have reasonable cause to believe that another school employee has engaged in sexual conduct or abuse, or that a student has abused another student, to report the suspected abuse or sexual conduct to the Department of Human Services (DHS) or law enforcement. The school employee must also report to a designated person within the organization. Sexual conduct is currently defined as verbal or physical conduct by a school employee that is sexual in nature, directed at a student, has the effect of unreasonably interfering with the student's academic performance, and creates an intimidating to hostile environment. sexual conduct is not abuse.

Senate Bill 912 requires reporting of student to student sexual conduct. The measure also directs notification of findings of sexual conduct to be sent to the appropriate regulating body for a public or private professional.
