

This makes it much easier for smaller operations/organizations to collect signatures for little to no cost. Some of us organizations don't have the funds to hire signature gatherers, so we rely on the ability to give out single signature sheets to our supporters for signing. There are also people that don't come out into public very often to be able to sign something a signature gatherer is collecting signatures for. So the single sheets make it much easier for democracy to happen at all ages and whether you like coming out in public or not.
