BACKGROUND:

In 2017, 7,831 Oregon children were in foster care on an average daily basis. A child may enter foster care through an involuntary or voluntary placement. Oregon law provides a child with involuntary placement should attend their original school unless it is in the best interest of the child to enroll in another school district. In the case of a voluntary placement, Oregon law is silent on where the child should go to school. Senate Bill 905 requires children who are voluntarily placed in foster care to enroll in the school districts where they reside if their placement agreement provides that they are no longer residents of their original school districts.
