THIS IS A POST-SCRIPT TO OUR COMMENT FILED EARLIER TODAY:

We understand there is a proposed amendment to SB 723 that would grant a loophole to the banning of coyote killing contests, and it appears to be a loophole big enough to drive a Mack truck through. Probably most of the coyote-killing contests are put on by groups or organizations, so exempting the members of such organizations would in effect nullify much of SB 723.

Please do not allow this cleverly-worded amendment to be attached to SB 723. It smacks of lobbying, and certainly doesn't remove our initial objections to such contests, that is: they are an affront to ethical hunters everywhere, and serve no scientific purpose.

Thank you.
