- Change in apportionment method of interstate broadcasters over time

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

In 2014, due to the passing of HB 4138, Oregon changed its method of corporate income apportionment for interstate broadcasters. The legislation changed Oregon from an apportionment method based on the share of viewers in Oregon, called audience factor apportionment, to a method based on the state of domicile of customers of interstate broadcasters, called domicile factor apportionment. This temporary legislation was in place until 2016, after which the Legislative Revenue Office (LRO) was tasked with analyzing the policy.

The LRO report in 2017 was inconclusive due to three main areas of uncertainty. First, disagreement exists over which companies are interstate broadcasters and thus should be apportioning as such. Second, there is uncertainty over the business activities that imply nexus for an interstate broadcaster in Oregon. Third, disagreement exists over whether all or part of an interstate broadcaster's income is subject to interstate broadcaster apportionment methods. The temporary apportionment provision was again extended for tax years 2017 and 2018 as part of SB 1523 during the 2018 legislative session. Ongoing litigation exists in Oregon's court system regarding the three issues raised above.
