

To the Legislators of Oregon:

I could write about all the scientific data showing that humans are causing global warming, that this country is moving backward to prevent global warming and its affects on our environment, but I'm not.

I have three important reasons for a strong commitment to a healthy environment (beginning in my backyard):

Kennedy (five) Elliott (two)

and Cameron (two months)

My grandchildren. What will their environment be like, their children's environment? We must take strong action now to ensure we do not burden the next generations with frightening environmental issues. Will water and air be their greatest concerns because we do not take action NOW?

Simply speaking, please keep Oregon moving forward, with strong legislation mandating that big polluters continue to work toward lowering their big polluting!

With sincerity,
Pamela DuVall, MAT
