

I would hate to be out in the back 40 acres, doing what farmers do, only to have a bad guy break into my home with my wife unable to defend herself because my gun is locked and I'm 1500' away. I'd also not like a cougar to approach one of grandchildren and get the upper hand while I unlock my rifle, while struggling to find the right key for my rifle, not my shotgun or handgun.

Please don't mess with my 2nd amendment rights.
