

I oppose this bill entirely and completely. It is dangerous and frankly, quite stupid to start criminalizing all kinds of gun handling mistakes to pacify a few corner cases. This penchant lawmakers have, to make laws everytime someone has a problem, is why the courts are packed, why there are hundreds of thousands of laws on the books, and why people are down on the government. Smaller is better. leave it alone. This turns thousands of otherwise responsible, mature taxpayers/constituents into criminals.

The number of these corner cases don't even begin to justify turning law abiding citizens into criminals. It is absurd: note that thousands more children fall victim to accidental poisoning than guns. It would be absurd to make it a felony to not have locks on all cleaning products in cupboards. And much more absurd to pass HB 4005, to satisfy frightened gun lobbys. Absurd, dangerous, absurd.
