Hello,

My name is nathan earl. I am a custom applicator out of the Hubbard area. First let me say that Chlorpyrifos insecticides such as lorsban are already used in very limited quantities. They are what you call “restricted use” meaning only qualified individuals with special training can use them. Lorsban is a broad range insecticide which is only generally used in very limited situations against symphylans, which live in the soil. On the market we currently don’t have a good replacement. We need to take the time to first locate several suitable replacements. Remember we are paying you to represent us, the nurseryman, farmer, rancher, and consumer.

Thanks, Nathan
