Prohibits use of building for any purpose other than an emergency shelter except upon the approved application of a permit for other use under current land use laws and regulations. Requires local governments to approve an application for an emergency shelter if specified requirements are met, including: (1) providing sleeping and restroom facilities; (2) complying with building codes; (3) being located within an urban growth boundary or area zoned for rural residential; (4) not resulting in the development of a new building in an area designated as a natural disaster area or floodplain (5) providing adequate access to public transit; (6) not posing an unreasonable risk to public health or safety; and, (7) being operated by a public benefit corporation, a religious corporation, a local government, or nonprofit corporation in partnership with another eligible entity. Provides immunity from civil liability for public entities entering into sheltering agreements, however, immunity does not apply if the owner, operator, officer, employee, or agent engages in conduct that constitutes gross negligence, fraud, or malice, is willful, intentional, reckless, or criminal, or is unrelated to COVID-19 exposure. Allows employees to bring claim under Workers Compensation as covered condition. Defines terms.

Enterprise Zone Termination Extensions: Allows an enterprise zone that would otherwise terminate on June 30, 2020 to terminate on December 31, 2020. BACKGROUND:

Local Government and Special Government Body Public Meetings and Operations: Government agencies at all levels in Oregon are subject to public meeting laws generally codified in ORS 192.610 and following, as well as ORS 221.770 for revenue distribution for cities. Meetings of governing bodies must be open to the public, provide adequate public notice, and abide by quorum requirements. House Bill 4212 outlines procedures for meeting by electronic means during the Governor's declared state of emergency issued on March 8, 2020.

Garnishment Modifications: Courts impose financial obligations through judgments, and creditors can enforce judgments using a procedure called garnishment. When a writ of garnishment is delivered to a financial institution, the financial institution must conduct a review of the debtor's account. The following deposits in the 60-day lookback period are not subject to garnishment: federal benefit payments, certain retirement benefits, public assistance and medical assistance payments from the state, unemployment benefit payments, black lung benefit payments, and workers' compensation payments. House Bill 4212 adds CARES Act recovery rebate payments to those deposits that are not subject to garnishment. Executive Order 20-18, signed on April 17, 2020, provides a similar protection.

Judicial Proceeding Extensions and Electronic Appearances: In March 2020, the Oregon Judicial Department sought legislative authority to extend or suspend certain mandatory statutory timelines that apply to the procedure of cases during the COVID-19 state of emergency, including the mandatory timelines to conduct jury trials. Following concerns expressed about the broad authority proposed to extend certain timelines relating to pre-trial custody, a work group was convened to develop a proposal that addressed those concerns.

Civil actions must be commenced within the court system within a certain period of time from the injury or discovery of the injury. This period is commonly called the “statute of limitation.” For example, a civil suit to recover for breach of contract must be commenced within six years of the breach occurring (ORS 12.080), while the statute of limitation for a wrongful death claim is three years from the death of the decedent (ORS 30.020).

House Bill 4212 extends the statute of limitation in civil actions when the statute of limitation falls within a Governor-declared COVID-19 emergency order. The period of extension is for 90 days beyond the end date of the emergency order. The extension does not apply to the time periods for commencing criminal actions, appeals of the Tax Court, appeals to the Court of Appeals, or any initiation of cases or proceedings before the Oregon Supreme Court.

Emergency Shelter: Oregon’s rate of homeless individuals who are unsheltered, at 64 percent (10,142 individuals in 2019), is one of the highest in the US. Many of these unsheltered homeless individuals are in families (65 percent). At the national level, two-thirds of unsheltered homeless individuals in families were located in the states of Oregon, California, Florida, or Colorado. In Oregon, unaccompanied youth, of which 1,590 were identified in the 2019 Point in Time count, are largely unsheltered (72 percent). The count also identified 1,438 homeless veterans, an increase of 11 percent in five years.

The health and economic impacts of the COVID-19 crisis have heightened the need for more safe shelter space to slow the spread of the disease and accommodate a growing homeless population. According to the National Institute for Health Care Management, homeless individuals infected by COVID-19 are two times as likely to be hospitalized and two to three times more likely to die than the general population when infected with COVID-19.

Low Income Utility Bill Assistance: The federal Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Act (LIHEAP) of 1981 (Public Law 97-35), as amended, provides grants to states and tribes to assist low-income households that pay a high proportion of household income for home energy, primarily in meeting their immediate home energy needs. LIHEAP includes bill payment assistance, heating or cooling equipment repairs and replacement, and energy education. In 2014, according to the American Community Survey, 436,520 Oregon households qualified for the program based on income. The LIHEAP income-eligibility for 2014 was defined as the greater of 150 percent of the 2012 Federal Poverty Guidelines published by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, or 60 percent of the state’s median income. Oregon also provides the Oregon Energy Assistance Program (OEAP). OEAP is a ratepayer-funded program that aims to reduce service disconnection.

Notarial Acts: A notary public, or notary, is a person commissioned by the Secretary of State to provide witnessing, acknowledging, or certifying services. To perform a notarial act, the notary and the individual must be in the same physical location so the notary can verify signatures, check identification, and detect possible fraud or coercion. Currently, notaries may charge $10 for each notarial act. With social distancing requirements resulting from COVID-19, many notarial services are unavailable.

The Oregon Law Commission convened a work group in May of 2019 to examine adoption of the Revised Uniform Law on Notarial Acts, which addressed remote notarization. In the fall of 2019, the Law Commission approved the measure for introduction, but was unable to introduce the bill in the 2020 session.

House Bill 4212 allows remote notarization services until June 30, 2021. The measure requires recorded sight and sound, or appropriate adaptive technologies, of the notarial act. Individuals must prove their identity and the notary must be able to reasonably confirm that the record before the notary is the same record before the individual. Notaries would be able to charge up to $25 per remote notarial act. The measure requires the Secretary of State to adopt rules on the use of remote notarization.

Isolation Shelter Liability Limits: Best practices for individuals who are diagnosed with COVID-19 or have been exposed to the virus is to isolate. This may be problematic for individuals who lack housing and may already be in vulnerable health conditions. Shelters may not be able to provide housing for COVID-19 positive individuals or individuals who have been exposed to the virus because of the risk of transmission to the rest of the shelter population. In response to this issue, some hotels, motels, and short-term rentals have signed agreements with state and local government to provide housing for COVID-19 exposed or positive individuals for the purpose of isolation and treatment.

House Bill 4212 provides immunity from civil suits to the owners, operators, or employees of hotel, motel, or short-term rental who have entered into an agreement with a public body to provide housing and services for COVID-19 affected individuals and have agreed to adhere to state and federal health guidance on cleaning and disinfecting common areas. The liability protection also extends to public entities entering into agreements. The liability is only for claims related to COVID-19 exposure or infection that results in injury, illness, or death, and is not provided in cases in which conduct is beyond negligent or unrelated to COVID-19 exposure or illness. The measure specifies that employers are protected from claims by workers, but exposure or illness is covered by Workers Compensation.

Enterprise Zone Termination Extensions: Enterprise zones exempt businesses from local property taxes on new investments for a specified amount of time based on the specific zone program (standard or special). Enterprise zones aim to help attract private business investment and help resident businesses to reinvest and grow in communities facing economic challenges. Enterprise zones are sponsored and administered by a city, county, tribe, port, or combination of such governments. There are currently 74 enterprise zones in Oregon; five terminate on June 30, 2020: Columbia River, Dallas/Independence/Monmouth, Grande Ronde {La Grande}, Greater Redmond Area, and Salem.

The process to redesignate an enterprise zone includes advising Business Oregon 45 days in advance, consulting with local taxing districts, meeting certain economic criteria, and completing a sponsoring resolution. The consultation with local taxing districts includes an open, public meeting with notice sent 21 days in advance. Extension of the termination deadline for these enterprise zones will allow zone sponsors to complete the redesignation process without further operational interruptions that would be caused by zone termination on June 30, 2020.

Individual Development Account Modifications: The Oregon Investment Account Initiative was established in 1999. It aims to alleviate poverty and build pathways of opportunity by matching funds in savings accounts, called individual development accounts (IDAs), for Oregonians with lower incomes. Participants plan and save for a defined goal (such as a home purchase, education or microenterprise) and the matching funds are drawn from various private resources. Neighborhood Partnerships manages the initiative, while Oregon Housing and Community Services and the Department of Revenue provide oversight.

Oregon OSHA Infectious Disease Standards: Within the Department of Consumer and Business Services, the Oregon Occupational Safety and Health Division (Oregon-OSHA) enforces occupational safety and health regulations in workplaces. Oregon-OSHA operates under an agreement with the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). The federal OSHA has been working on an infectious disease standard since 2010 in the aftermath of the H1N1 pandemic. Development of the standard is currently on the long-term portion of the U.S. Department of Labor's regulatory agenda.

Race and Ethnicity Data Collection and Reporting During COVID-19 Pandemic: In 2013, the Oregon Legislature passed HB 2134, which directed the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) and the Department of Human Services (DHS) to collaborate in standardizing and improving how race, ethnicity, spoken and written language, and disability (REAL D) demographics are collected. These data collection standards provide a consistent method to gather information across all state data systems and are used to measure and compare service and health disparities. According to OHA, REAL D data standards can help Oregon understand, identify, track, and address social and health inequities, guide the development of culturally specific and accessible services, and inform the equitable allocation of resources to address health inequities.

In response to COVID-19, OHA has released daily updates and weekly reports of the state's COVID-19 cases by demographic groups often with missing or unknown race or ethnicity data for COVID-19 related testing, test results, and hospitalizations. Nationally, Black, indigenous, and people of color represent a higher percent of COVID-19 confirmed cases compared to the general population. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, one-third of people hospitalized by the virus nationwide are African American: two and a half times greater than the proportion of Black people in the overall U.S. population. In response to national and local data showing the disproportionate effect of COVID-19 on communities of color, OHA also established "Actions for an Equity-Centered Response to COVID-19." Data collection and standardization of demographic data is an important public health tool to assess and address the disproportionate effects of COVID-19 on communities of color in Oregon.
