Provides that person who contracts with landscape contracting business licensee or a construction contractor licensee is not responsible for providing workers' compensation coverage to the contractor's employees who are performing work under the contract. Repeals redundant civil penalty statute, ORS 656.750, regarding recordkeeping requirements for self-insured employers.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

Under existing law, every workers' compensation insurer or self-insured employer must maintain a place of business in Oregon where claims records are kept. Business practices have evolved to gain efficiencies that include data stored in the cloud and employees telework. House Bill 2039 allows records to be stored outside of Oregon as long as the records are made available for examination by the Department of Consumer and Business Services at the in-state place of business.

A person who contracts with a person holding a license issued by the Construction Contractors Board (CCB) is not required to provide workers' compensation coverage to the CCB licensee's employees who are providing labor under the contract. CCB licensed contractors are required to provide workers' compensation coverage to their employees. House Bill 2039 provides the same exemption to persons who contract with licensed landscape contractor businesses.

There are currently two statutes regarding civil penalties for violating recordkeeping requirements relating to workers' compensation: ORS 656.750 is specific to self-insured employers who violate recordkeeping requirements, while ORS 656.745 sets penalty caps for a broad variety of violations, including those involving recordkeeping. House Bill 2039 repeals the penalty statute specific to recordkeeping by self-insured employers.
