ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

The Department of Human Services (DHS) investigates certain reports of suspected abuse in child-caring agencies and must find, at the conclusion of its investigation, that the report is either substantiated or not. There is currently no language in statute distinguishing the impacts of substandard care; whether or when such impacts constitute abuse for purposes of findings that DHS is required to make. There are also few, if any, current incentive programs designed to increase the number of mental health providers in child care settings or to support efforts to improve diversity among providers in the child care workforce generally.

House Bill 2424 establishes a child-caring agency grant and training program and a Child Welfare Cultural Equity Program and appropriates $1,250,000 and $2,500,000 to DHS respectively, for each. The measure also allows child-caring agencies to hire mental health associates and appropriates $250,000 to OHA for a loan repayment subsidy program. Finally, the measure provides for impacts of substandard care in the context of DHS findings whether a report of suspected abuse in a child caring agency is substantiated or not.
