BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Youth Employment Program was created in Senate Bill 175 (2011) as part of a broader legislative initiative on workforce development. The Youth Employment Program requires the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) to partner with local workforce development boards to provide work experience and training for youth aged 14 to 24. In 2014, the federal Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act replaced the earlier Workforce Investment Act of 1998 and offered funds to state and local workforce development boards for employment programs.

The Oregon Youth Corps and Oregon Community Stewardship Corps are separate programs housed within HECC that provide youth with community service opportunities. The Oregon Youth Corps offers emergency services, public conservation, rehabilitation, and improvement programs, while the Oregon Community Stewardship Corps promotes community service activities such as childcare services, literacy education programs, and waste reduction services.

House Bill 2092 modifies responsibilities and requirements of Oregon Youth Employment Program, allows the program to access federal funds for operations, and consolidates the Oregon Youth Corps and the Oregon Community Stewardship Corps into the Oregon Youth Employment Program.
