BACKGROUND:

When a person is arrested, photos are usually taken of them as they are booked into jail. Subsequently, these photos are often released to the public and published in the media or online. Some websites specialize in publishing booking photos and charge money to have the images removed, even if the photo was of a person who was not charged or acquitted.

House Bill 3273 prohibits law enforcement agencies from releasing booking photos except under certain circumstances and sets requirements for the destruction of a booking photo image by a publish-for-pay website upon request.
