ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Characteristics of Oregon Opportunity Grant and Oregon Promise
- Funding and equity challenges

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

-1 Replaces measure. Expands educational options available to qualified students who are awarded Oregon Promise grants to include community colleges, public universities, the Oregon Health and Science University, and other accredited, Oregon-based, not-for-profit institutions of higher education. Allows Oregon Promise grant to be applied toward courses required for completion of a bachelor's degree. Increases minimum grant amount awarded to $2,000 with adjustment for inflation as determined by Higher Education Coordinating Commission by rule. Removes $50 reduction per term of grant awarded. Lowers eligibility threshold for grade point average to 2.0. Exempts students who have already completed six or more academic quarters or four or more academic semesters of full-time post-secondary education. Removes requirement for student to complete first-year experience at community college to maintain eligibility. Allows commission to consider projected resources and pending statutory modifications when determining whether sufficient moneys are available to award grants. Allows commission to consider student's financial resources rather than family contribution when determining eligibility. Removes ability for commission to increase amount owed by student if sufficient funds are unavailable. Applies to 2022-2023 academic year. Allows commission to take necessary action before operative date to implement requirements.

BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Opportunity Grant (OOG) program is Oregon's largest state-funded, need-based financial aid program. According to the HECC, the OOG provides financial support to more than 30,000 low-income college students in Oregon each year. The OOG is primarily funded by appropriations from the Legislative Assembly to the Oregon Opportunity Grant Fund and by donations.

The Oregon Promise program was created by Senate Bill 81 (2015) and is the state's second-largest state-funded financial aid program. Oregon Promise is a grant available to Oregon high school graduates or students who pass the General Educational Development (GED) test, subject to certain eligibility requirements, to provide financial assistance for tuition and fees at Oregon community colleges.

House Bill 2093 modifies eligibility requirements for qualified students to receive the Oregon Opportunity Grant and Oregon Promise and expands the Oregon Promise to include tuition and fees at four-year universities and other post-secondary educational institutions in addition to community colleges. It replaces the distribution formulas currently outlined in Oregon law and allows the Higher Education Coordinating Commission to implement new formulas and eligibility requirements by rule.
