Requires dispute resolution processes to consider best placement for the child. Requires other rulemaking bodies to consider the rules and policies adopted by the Early Learning Council. Allows for action prior to operative date as necessary for implementation.

BACKGROUND:

In 2016, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Service's Administration for Children and Families issued a policy statement on expulsion and suspension policies in early childhood settings. That statement recommended that states establish policies applicable in both publicly and privately funded settings to promote mental and behavioral health and eliminate or limit the use of exclusionary discipline in early childhood settings. The National Association for the Education of Young Children estimates that over 8,000 children are suspended or expelled from early learning settings annually in the United States. Senate Bill 236 A requires the Early Learning Division to study the use of suspension and expulsion in early learning settings and prohibits recipients of state funding from suspending or expelling any child. The measure establishes waiver and dispute resolution processes and requires the Early Learning Council to promulgate related rules.
