Modifies requirements for recognized student governments at public universities and community colleges to interact with institutional governing boards when making recommendations for mandatory incidental fees and mandatory student-initiated fees. Allows mandatory incidental fees to be raised by more than five percent if budget for previous year was at an abnormal level due to declared state of emergency. Modifies requirements for resolving disagreement between university board and recognized student government by written notice. Clarifies criteria for board to refuse requested modifications to fees. Applies provisions to decisions on mandatory fees made on or after effective date.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- History of incidental fees
- Purpose of incidental fees
- Unilateral ability of institutions to cancel incidental fees
- Projected cuts to student government as result of emergency declaration
- Intent of statute governing mandatory incidental fees

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

Replaces modifications to process for collection of mandatory incidental fees by student governments at public universities. Clarifies requirements for student government to collaborate with and notify university board when proposing changes to mandatory incidental fees. Clarifies criteria for board to refuse requested modifications to fees. Allows mandatory incidental fees to be raised by more than five percent if budget for previous year was at an abnormal level due to declared state of emergency. Modifies requirements for resolving disagreement between university board and recognized student government by written notice.

BACKGROUND:

Students at Oregon's public universities and community colleges are subject to mandatory enrollment, incidental, and student-initiated fees in addition to tuition. These fees typically cover student involvement activities and programs. Mandatory incidental and student-initiated fees differ from mandatory enrollment fees in that they are requested by student governments and collected by institutional boards, and are not subject to the same advisory guidelines as mandatory enrollment fees. Oregon law allows institutional boards or presidents to reject requests for incidental and student-initiated fees for a variety of reasons, including if the fee increase is greater than five percent and if the fee request is determined to not be advantageous to the cultural or physical development of students.
