

While I understand the concern this bill seeks to address, there is no discussion here of a timely effort being made. If the police are unable to determine, they need to do more diligence and get to the bottom of the question. Allowing a firearm transfer to simply bog down in the process is neither right nor constitutional. Firearm transfers need to happen timely and efficiently. Allowing months or even weeks to pass between the request and the allowance is embarrassing, shameful, and needs to be addressed. An "inability to determine" is not conscionable, nor an answer. This bill, as written, allows endless stalling. There must be an efficient, timely, and believable response to the request.
