

I oppose extending the eviction moratorium. It will allow larger debt on delinquent renters, deepening any impoverishment. It increases debt on landlords, deepening obligation to their lending institutions. This results in lenders assuming properties, and persons and businesses failing.

The State cannot assume debt simply continues the practice, deepening the hole for everyone while pushing poverty deeper, and moving those already financially marginalized closer to poverty.