

People without homes still deserve respect. They should be allowed to get sleep so that they can function properly. Lack of sleep can lead to erratic behavior and worsen medical conditions or mental health. This is a safety issue.