

If people living in prison are able to get student loans it is a responsibility to provide access and support to attain them. If students are ready and willing to pursue an education, we must be responsive and reduce barriers to access. Our community will be better if more people have access to education.