

I don't understand how teaching social studies and civics has been pushed out like art and music. We need our young people growing up with an understanding of how our overall society is supposed to work.