

I am against this bill. I already lock my guns in a safe. I do not have any guns that can't be locked away in that way. To make me liable if someone steals my guns seems just a way to try to scare gun owners into getting rid of their guns. It will not have that effect. It will also not reduce gun violence. You should be focusing on enforcement of existing gun laws instead of trying to make more laws. In addition, increase funding to the police rather than to reduce funding and allow them to make meaningful enforcement efforts against people who actually do commit crimes. I am sure my testimony will have no impact on your decisions but I have to try.
