

To whom it may concern,

I do not understand the purpose of passing bills that only criminalize law abiding gun owners. This bill is clearly not aimed at public safety and does not fall under "common sense" gun regulation. It is plain to see that there is a push in this state to make firearms illegal. Please consider writing in laws prosecuting those who break the law and go forth with stealing firearms or using them illegally, in the first place. It appears that the laws would rather provide haven for rule-breakers than those who follow the laws as written.

Sincerely,
Alex Stein
