

I fish the Willamette regularly. I fish because it brings me peace and joy. I also gets me out of the house and into nature. I feel very balanced because of it. In all my days on the water i have never had a problem with other users of the river such as wake boards, skiers, tubers and jet skiers. In fact i am just as happy for them as i am for myself. I don't think its right nor fair that the government can dictate who can and how cant use the river. It is public land which belongs to the public not the government. If the government succeeds in this action what other actions are they going to take to eliminate our freedom.
