

Please do not promote a curriculum that unfairly teaches pioneers and settlers as racists. Even though there may have been pockets of racism, a unifying message of the positive stories and history of how people strove together to settle America should be taught. Focus on the positive, not stories of blame that only tear us down.