

This type of teaching, inaccurate as it is, proves no benefit to the future. The 1619 project is a skewed view of history. Was this country always perfect? No. Every race and ethnic group has had its issues and when we look back at what we are doing today, the future will be able to find something wrong. We have a choice, focus and build on the positives and grow together or focus on the negatives and grow apart. If we grow apart we will see an increase in violence and animosity towards each other and our country will become weaker due to the dislike and mistrust for each other the 1619 project causes because of its twisted historical view.

We cannot afford to teach our kids hate. We cannot afford to teach our kids the 1619 project. We need to teach them the 1776 project where it says "All men are created equal"
