

This is a step in the right direction but it is not even close to what needs to be done. My hopes are that this continues momentum in the right direction and real solutions start appearing.