

This does nothing but strip away socially distant activities in a time of need, hurts businesses and most of the river is already overly regulated. This is my first time partaking in taking a side like this, and I can't believe this is even happening in our city, in which I lived my entire life.