

The residents of Lakewood Park in Eugene were not given the right of first refusal when our park was sold. We formed a committee and followed all the rules but were cut out by a corporation who substantially raised rents for new owners hence devaluing the worth of all our homes.