

I think this is a better way to elect government officials than party affiliations. Too much money is spent on campaigns and party functions. This is a way for candidates to become our representatives without towing some party line that leads to governmental deadlock and apathy.