

Dear Senators and Representatives,

Please allow all students equal access to education. We have done so much to facilitate citizens' access to education over the decades. This is the next step. The effects of menstruation on society gets very little attention. Some may not even think that menstruation may cause some students to miss classes. The time is now to bring the struggles of menstruating students to light and to offer solutions in the same manner that we consider other public health and access to education issues. Please vote to provide feminine hygiene products to our citizens so that they can pursue their education.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Critelli, M.S., CCC-SLP
