Hello,

Although I am happy to hear we are finally getting around to moving beyond first past the post voting, I am also disappointed at the lack of apparent effort when considering alternative voting methods. Even a basic amount of research would have revealed ranked choice voting to be inferior to other methods such as STAR (objectively good) or approval (good when considering cost of implementation, otherwise just okay) voting.

Please oppose this bill and try again with one of the objectively superior voting methods.

Thanks,
Matthew
