

Beavers do more good than harm when they build their dams. These dams improve the water table, create habitat for many other animals, provide a way to slow waters down to inhibit flooding, and create safe rearing environment for salmonids. We should be protecting them instead of trying to eradicate them.