

It is not only important for our TAG children to have a plan for their education but for that plan to actually be implemented and communicated to the parents and the public. I have two gifted sons. One had a plan that was loosely implemented in elementary school and not at all supported in Middleschool and high school. This needs to happen. I want my 2nd grade TAG son to have the opportunity to not only survive in school but to thrive, he deserves to thrive. Having a clear and implementable plan is the first step to making this happen.
